

PEACE CRUSADE BY CHURCHES IS URGED BY HULL

ASKS BUSINESS MEN, STATESMEN TO HELP CAUSE

Claims Economic And Monetary Stability Being Upset

Washington, Oct. 2.—(P)—A "flaming crusade" by the churches for peace was proposed tonight by Secretary Hull as Italian war drums sounded on Ethiopian borders.

The secretary of state made his suggestion in a speech before a mass meeting held under auspices of the committee on religious life in the nation's capital. An hour or so earlier, President Roosevelt in San Diego had told the country that the United States was determined to avoid perils to peace and remain unentangled and free.

"Present dangers are a challenge to the church to engage in what should be nothing less than a flaming crusade," Hull said.

"The church is a sponsor and advocate of peace and at this moment when there is a menace of war that may not be confined to any two nations, but spread among several nations, there is a weighty obligation resting on the church to exert itself in every conceivable manner to impress the people with a hatred of war and a love of peace."

The speech of the secretary, the first official comment by any official after the delivery of the president's speech, was taken by many as another exposition of the administration's desire to keep this country out of any conflict which might arise from the Italian-Ethiopian controversy.

Earlier in the day Secretary Roper said at a press conference he viewed the United States as a potential mediator in matters of world concern. In his own press conference, Hull had urged statesmen and business men of the world to help correct disturbed world conditions which he said were seriously impeding all efforts toward economic recovery.

Hull added that the "armed trade" in Europe had diverted funds vitally needed for world trade to the purchase of guns and ammunition and had a tendency further to upset economic and monetary stability.

Hull said a firm determination by governments to preserve peace and abstain from aggression was required.

Teacher Will Not Take Oath

Boston, Oct. 2.—(P)—Massachusetts' new "teacher's oath" law was defied tonight by Dr. Kirtley F. Mather, celebrated Harvard geologist, who declared he would refuse to take an oath of allegiance to the state and national constitutions.

Dr. Mather, also director of the Harvard summer school, said he was convinced that a compulsory oath, such as the last legislature prescribed for the state's 40,000 public and private school and college teachers, "violated his constitutional rights as a citizen and a teacher."

"I do not know what will be the consequences," said Dr. Mather, of his announced refusal, but "certainly it was admitted by the state commissioner of education, Dr. Payson Smith, that the law contains no penalties. Enforcement, Dr. Smith observed, was a matter for school principals and local school committees."

The law was passed at the instance of veterans and patriotic organizations, although virtually all of the state's college heads and principal educators opposed the bill at often disorderly hearings.

TWO MEN ARE QUESTIONED IN CO-ED'S DEATH

Grocer Admits Making False Statement To Officers

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 2.—(P)—A purse and a spot of blood added new mystery angles tonight to the death of pretty Margaret Wilm, 21-year-old Colorado College co-ed, as officers questioned two men.

Sheriff Sam Deal said George Sleppy, 31, a grocer, admitted he conspired with his brother-in-law, Kenneth Garrett, the girl's escort, to corroborate a false statement after the young woman's body was found 100 feet from the Sleppy home Monday morning.

Findings of the young woman's purse in the Sleppy house apparently conflicted with a theory of Sheriff Deal that she left there Sunday night to take a bus home and accidentally fell from a retaining wall into Cheyenne creek, fracturing her skull. The purse contained the money needed for bus fare.

A spot of blood at the top of the retaining wall also puzzled officers. Discussing the alleged false statement, Sheriff Deal said:

"When Miss Wilm's mother called Garrett at 5 a. m. Monday and asked him why her daughter had not returned home during the night, Garrett told her Margaret became 'miffed' and ran from the Sleppy home, where they had been visiting, Sunday night."

"I learned Garrett immediately asked Sleppy to corroborate that story and it was the one they told when first questioned."

"Later Mr. and Mrs. Sleppy and Garrett said he fell asleep in his car in front of Sleppy's home while Margaret was in the house with Mrs. Sleppy, that the girl left the house apparently to awaken him, and that was the last they saw of her."

"This blood on top of the wall was not there when we first were summoned Monday," the sheriff said. "It must have been placed there by someone trying to add more confusion to this already confusing situation."

Hugh S. Johnson Urges Census Of All Unemployed

Says Efforts To Solve Problem By PWA Not Effective

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 2.—(P)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson urged tonight an immediate census of all unemployed in the United States as the first step toward eradicating a "potential peril" to the "continued existence of our form of government."

The former NRA administrator spoke at the California Pacific International Exposition here only a few hours after President Roosevelt had addressed a huge gathering here.

Johnson, who recently announced he intended to discuss the "lousy aspects" of the New Deal, asserted that efforts to solve the problem of unemployment through the PWA and the WPA have not been effective.

Efforts up to the present have been hasty and without "team work," General Johnson said, suggesting the census of the unemployed as a first step in a thorough approach to the problem. He said it was his opinion that shorter hours and higher wages for labor must be the solution.

"For five years we have been kidding ourselves about this cancer in our body politic," Johnson said. "Like a sick man who puts off going to the doctor because he fears bad news, we have said 'wait long enough and it will get all right again.' We have been able to suffer the pain without paroxysms only by dosing ourselves with the dangerous opiate of spending billions of dollars that we haven't got to put to sleep this potential peril to the public peace and even to the continued existence of our form of government."

Apparently referring to the views voiced earlier by President Roosevelt that this country intends to "remain at peace with all the world," General Johnson said:

"No president ever acted more wisely than has Franklin Roosevelt in keeping us safe from assault from the sea."

LAUNCH WARSHIP

Brest, France, Oct. 2.—(P)—The 26,500-ton battle cruiser Dunkerque, France's first new warship in 20 years, was launched today with huge gray tarpsauls purposely hiding the turret from the sight of observers.

Tugs flanked the ship in the river where it was to spend the night under guard before proceeding to a construction dock for finishing touches. Photographers were barred.

The Dunkerque was built to offset the "pocket battleships" of Germany.

CAN TAKE IT

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 2.—(P)—An eight-pound sledge hammer fell 20 feet and hit Arnold Skar, 28-year-old Omahan, on the head today but failed to knock him unconscious.

Taken to a hospital, physicians ordered him to remain all night after they had taken several stitches in his scalp but Skar said "it was nothing. I have been hit harder than that before."

President Roosevelt:

"As president of the United States I say to you most earnestly once more that the people of America and the government of those people intend and expect to remain at peace with all the world."

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, warning farmers against speculative prices caused by war talk:

"It might be well for the farmer to consider the inevitable distortion of judgment which takes place in time of excitement. It is easy to accept thankfully what comes, but it also would be well to consider the eventual repercussions."

Mrs. Lillian Mitchener, the woman who bailed Carry Nation out of jail after her first big saloon smashup and who has headed the Kansas W.C.T.U. a quarter of a century, predicting America's liquor bars will be wrecked again:

"I believe Carry Nation's effort was the cornerstone of the dry cause for the nation, and I don't know how long it will take to reestablish national prohibition, but public opinion is swinging back that way."

'LITTLE ITALY' WILL BURY ITS FIRE VICTIMS

Prosecutor Will Seek Extreme Penalty For Firebugs

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(P)—"Little Italy" tonight prepared to bury its dead—the ten whose lives were taken in the tenement holocaust last Sunday when Frank Vitale and Joseph Di Chiaro allegedly have confessed instigating to obtain insurance money to pay $400 in debts.

Tonorrow and the day after all will be taken to the little church at which they worshipped last Sunday—Guardian Angel, in the heart of the Italian settlement—for funeral mass.

Meanwhile state's attorneys aids proceeded with their announced plans of seeking the extreme penalty for Vitale, a grocer, and Di Chiaro, a saloon hanger-on, whose reputed confessions explained the blast and fire which swept through the three-story apartment building which also housed Vitale's grocery.

Frank Cappola and his five children, victims of the flames will be buried tomorrow, as will Joseph Grasso and his daughter, Virginia, 16. On Friday a Requiem Mass will be sung by the Rev. Richard Secchia for Mrs. Rose Anglesano and her daughter, Rachel, 24.

A fund to help defray funeral expenses has been started in the Italian settlement.

Because of the tense atmosphere that exists in the community Police Captain John Norton said the inquest, which will be resumed tomorrow, will be held in the Maxwell street station so Vitale and Di Chiaro may be guarded from possible violence.

STREET WEDDING

Mt. Sterling, Ill., Oct. 2.—(P)—Like many another middle-western town, Mt. Sterling had a fall celebration today. And, in the tradition, a street wedding was the main event.

With the Rev. C. R. Piety officiating and twelve girls of high school age as attendants, Abraham Riggs was united to Annie Brim.

Riggs is 65 years old; his bride, 64.

Increasing Violence Marks Spread of Farmers Strike For Advance in Milk Prices

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(P)—Increasing violence tonight marked the spread of a farmers' "strike" that threatened Chicago and suburbs with a depleted milk supply.

One farmer-picket was in jail at Woodstock, county seat of McHenry county, as the result of wrecking of a milk truck driven by a deputy sheriff. More arrests were promised by Sheriff Henry Nulle.

Three other truck drivers, one a former sheriff's deputy, reported they had been "slugged" by pickets who stopped their trucks and dumped milk on the highways.

Through these tactics, coupled with peaceful persuasion methods, the strikers definitely tightened their hold on the market and brightened their hopes of forcing a higher price for their product.

The milk dealers, who last night assured the Chicago area a full supply, tonight were willing to guarantee to meet only "reasonable requests."

This, Paul Potter, secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., explained, meant that if the normal demand were increased by fears of a milk "famine," the extra burden could not be carried.

The Pure Milk Association, milk producers' organization which provides 95 per cent of the supply by contract with the dealers, "does not seem to be" bringing in the milk as the contract provides, Potter declared.

Neither the dealers, the Pure Milk Association—which opposed the "strike"—or the strikers would estimate how much the normal supply had been cut off.

Earlier estimates ranged from 10 to 60 per cent.

The strikers' negotiating committee, through its secretary R. F. Marcotte, of Kankakee, denied all responsibility for picketing activities that tied up milk truck movements in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin counties.

Deputy sheriffs patrolled roads in McHenry, Lake, Kane and Will counties. At Elgin, "strike" headquarters, city police escorted trucks.

Before the deputies got into action, strike pickets wrecked a truck driven by Deputy Sheriff Milton Stecker at Ringwood, McHenry county, and dumped the milk load.

Earl Campbell, 22, of Richmond, was arrested as one of Stecker's assailants, and jailed in default of $500 bail on charges of disorderly conduct.

The "strike" was called at midnight Monday by independent farmers who met at Elgin on Sunday night and decided to act "on their own" to raise their prices from a top of $1.75 to $2.50 a hundredweight.

POTATO CONTROL BILL WILL NOT BE ENFORCED

Secretary Declares Common Sense To Be Used

By Jerry Greene, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Oct. 2.—(P)—Blunt notice that "I'm going to do all I can to avoid enforcing the potato control bill" came from Secretary Wallace today as growers gathered in the capital to consider a substitute for the statutory tax curb of potato production.

"I don't want to enforce the potato control act," Wallace emphasized to his press conference. "We've tried to use common sense at all times."

His statement came in the midst of Republican charges that the administration was seeking to evade enforcement of the law.

The AAA has called a hearing at 10 a. m. tomorrow to consider alternatives to the tax of 1 cent per pound Congress voted on all potatoes sold in excess of a national allotment. Wallace said today that no funds had yet been found to collect the tax and that unless funds were available, the law probably could not be enforced.

The tax control plan would become effective December 1. AAA officials said they expect sharp criticism tomorrow both from producers who want tax control and from those who oppose the regulation.

Wallace remark was the first open statement of the administration's opposition to tax control of potatoes, though it has been conceded privately in the agriculture department ever since the law was passed. He indicated, however, that the administration expects to provide some form of aid for the commercial potato producers.

"We want to get their judgment," Wallace said. "They're in real trouble. The price of potatoes is less than half of parity."

Many conferences have been held to find a way of helping the potato producers, Wallace said, and many proposals have been made. But he emphasized that the solution to the problem cannot be known until after tomorrow's hearing.

Referring to his comment upon the potato law, Wallace added:

"I've merely indicated my own attitude."

Tom Mooney Turns To Supreme Court

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—(P)—Tom Mooney turned again to the United States supreme court tonight in his fight for freedom—declaring his habeas corpus hearing here is a "travesty" that should be stopped.

In the surprise move, which came while the hearing ordered by the California supreme court was in its third week, Mooney asked the country's highest tribunal to assume jurisdiction over his new plea for vindication of the 1916 premeditated day bombing here which killed 10 persons.

"It is certain beyond a reasonable doubt that the judgment of the supreme court of California will be adverse," stated the petition, filed in Washington by John F. Flinnery of Mooney counsel.

The action, which renewed a motion denied by the United States supreme court early this year for leave to file a petition for an original writ of habeas corpus, was brought on the ground Mooney now has exhausted all means of relief in California.

BENITO MUSSOLINI SAYS ITALY IS PREPARED TO MEET "WAR" WITH "WAR"

ETHIOPIANS ON MARCH TOWARD BATTLE FRONT

Native Drums To Call Ten Million, Women, Men, Boys To Arms

By James A. Mills, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Addis Ababa, Oct. 2.—(P)—Nearly 250,000 Ethiopian fighters were reported on the march tonight, some toward the Italian colonial frontier, in anticipation of a general mobilization tomorrow.

Native drums echoing through valleys and mountains will call 10,000,000 men, women and boys into service in the face of a threatened war with Italy.

Emperor Haile Selassie decided upon the mobilization, which he will proclaim from the balcony of the imperial palace, after dispatching a protest to Geneva charging Italy has already invaded his kingdom with 50,000 troops.

One hundred thousand Ethiopians were reported marching from Gondar toward the Eritrean frontier, where Italy is expected to strike. This vast army was followed by 60,000 warriors from four provinces led by Ras Mulheta, minister of war. Another 80,000 troops from Jima and Wallaga province were said to be on their way to Addis Ababa to protect the capital.

(The Addis Ababa correspondent of the Paris AdS reported fighting between Italian and Ethiopian troops had already started in the Mussa Ali—eastern—section of Ethiopia and that there have been casualties.)

(The newspaper, although previous Ethiopian reports said none of the country's troops was in that vicinity, asserted three columns of advancing Italian troops, totalling 25,000 men, fought with irregular Danakil tribesmen. The Italians have not yet met Ethiopian regulars, the report said.)

In the traditional Ethiopian fashion, drums will call the warriors to arms. The beats will be taken up by other drum-beaters in a momentous warning which will resound throughout the land. Mobilization orders are already in the hands of provincial governors.

Before making the decision, the little king conferred at length today with his advisors. Some officials here expressed belief war may break out even before the arrival of Italian consul agents from the interior. They have been called in for safety.

Addressing himself to the domestic situation, Mr. Roosevelt also warned against "those who would raise false issues." He spoke of present conditions as offsetting false preachments. Although the depression is not finally solved, he said, "the outlook is clearer. As the burden lifts, the federal government can and will greatly divert itself of the emergency responsibility, but it cannot ignore the imperfections of the old order."

A review of existing circumstances led to this presidential conclusion: "We stand once more upon an economic plateau. We have, therefore, a right to look forward to the brighter future while, at the same time, we remember the mistakes of the past."

American principles of freedom of religion and liberty of conscience were upheld, as he reminded that these principles were being violated under other flags.

Hitler Promises He Will Not Attempt To Profit By Situation

By Robert Parker, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Paris, Oct. 2.—(P)—Premier Pierre Laval, cautious in committing France to a definite attitude in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict in fear of what Germany would do, today received Adolf Hitler's assurance, transmitted through Great Britain, that the third Reich has no intention of joining Italy. French officials said.

Official circles learned of Hitler's reported promise not to attempt to "draw any profit from the present situation" as Laval conferred with his defense ministers over a new alarm—the reported invasion of Ethiopia by Italian troops.

The premier expressed the fear that sanctions are near and that the war feeling in Europe had been heightened. He anxiously awaited the league's call to such measures.

French officialdom found nothing disturbing in Mussolini's speech, however, dismissing it as "nothing new." The French welcomed it as having "cleared the air of too much war talk."

The French premier is prepared to discuss with Anthony Eden, British spokesman at Geneva, the draft of the Franco-British joint action before the League of Nations, now that he has Britain's assurance that Hitler will keep the peace.

U. S. TO REMAIN 'UNENTANGLED,' FREE, FOR SAYS

Will Avoid Perils That Endanger Our Peace

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 2.—(P)—President Roosevelt served notice on the war-threatened world today that the United States is sternly determined "to avoid those perils that will endanger our peace."

Without directly mentioning the Italo-Ethiopian situation, he said this country "shall and must remain unentangled and free."

"The gospel of the good neighbor" was preached with fervor an hour before he was scheduled to view maneuvers of 130 warships in sight offshore as he spoke.

"This country seeks no conquest," he said. "We have no imperial designs."

Addressing himself to the domestic situation, Mr. Roosevelt also warned against "those who would raise false issues." He spoke of present conditions as offsetting false preachments. IL DUCE SPEAKS TO MILLIONS IN PUBLIC SQUARES

Italian Offensive On Ethiopia May Begin October 5 To 10

By John Evans, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Rome, Oct. 2.—(P)—Benito Mussolini, his fists clenched, sternly pledged a mobilized fascist nation tonight to meet "war" with "war" if the League of Nations imposes military sanctions upon Italy.

High on the balcony of his Venezia palace, which was illuminated by flares, Il Duce spoke, he said, to "twenty million" men mobilized in public squares throughout Italy.

"A solemn hour is about to strike in the history of the Fatherland," Il Duce shouted to his listeners in "the most gigantic demonstration which the history of the human race recalls."

His voice carried to 7,329 communities. Slowly, but forcefully, Premier Mussolini almost shouted each word with long pauses between them. Throughout there was the silence of an army on review, punctuated with the wildest cheering.

"Not only our army marches towards its goal, but 44,000,000 Italians are marching with the army," he said.

A wave of wild enthusiasm and excitement swept through Italy as the populace was called out without warning in the long-awaited national mobilization.

Mussolini said he did not believe the real French or British people ever would execute military sanctions. He struck out at the League of Nations.

While he spoke of the British posters on surrounding walls he said Italy "finds it simply monstrous" that Britain, "which dominates the world," should refuse Italy "a poor strip of land in Africa."

The government protected the British embassy with 300 police and helmeted soldiers. They formed three lines about the building and grounds.

Il Duce, in a black shirt under his corporal's uniform, marked his points with strong gestures, using both arms and often clenching his fists.

"The mobilization" came with sirens, bells and drums at 3:30 P. M. and ended at 7:15, a few minutes after Mussolini finished his 15-minute "message" to his people.

Immediately afterward, unofficial observers predicted the Italian offensive upon Ethiopia would begin between Oct. 5 and 10—provided rains there end.

Hugh S. Johnson Urges Census Of All Unemployed

Says Efforts To Solve Problem By PWA Not Effective

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 2.—(P)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson urged tonight an immediate census of all unemployed in the United States as the first step toward eradicating a "potential peril" to the "continued existence of our form of government."

The former NRA administrator spoke at the California Pacific International Exposition here only a few hours after President Roosevelt had addressed a huge gathering here.

Apparently referring to the views voiced earlier by President Roosevelt that this country intends to "remain at peace with all the world," General Johnson said:

"No president ever acted more wisely than has Franklin Roosevelt in keeping us safe from assault from the sea."

"Public charity," he asserted, "is cold and is administered in a perfunctory, business like way. It is very costly."

Smith contended the poor and the bread lines formed a problem even in 1929. He pointed out the archdiocese of New York handled 17,323 persons in that supposedly prosperous era.

In stressing the expense of welfare undertakings, he said a hospital recently finished on Long Island cost the state $40,000,000. The same state, he continued, spends more than $40,000,000 a year to operate 13 hospitals.

"The burden can never be shifted in a material degree by the government," Smith said. "The church will always assume more than her full share."

The speaker held "there is a great deal of confusion in the public mind as to where charity begins and there it ends." And to how much of the load the government should carry.

"Catholic charities," he admonished his audience, "must be supported. The church provides the ways and means, all we have to furnish is the where with."

'LITTLE ITALY' WILL BURY ITS FIRE VICTIMS

Prosecutor Will Seek Extreme Penalty For Firebugs

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(P)—"Little Italy" tonight prepared to bury its dead—the ten whose lives were taken in the tenement holocaust last Sunday which Frank Vitale and Joseph Di Chiaro allegedly have confessed instigating to obtain insurance money to pay $400 in debts.

Tomorrow and the day after all will be taken to the little church at which they worshipped last Sunday—Guardian Angel, in the heart of the Italian settlement—for funeral mass.

Meanwhile state's attorneys aids proceeded with their announced plans of seeking the extreme penalty for Vitale, a grocer, and Di Chiaro, a saloon hanger-on, whose reputed confessions explained the blast and fire which swept through the three-story apartment building which also housed Vitale's grocery.

Frank Cappola and his five children, victims of the flames will be buried tomorrow, as will Joseph Grasso and his daughter, Virginia, 16. On Friday a Requiem Mass will be sung by the Rev. Richard Secchia for Mrs. Rose Anglesano and her daughter, Rachel, 24.

A fund to help defray funeral expenses has been started in the Italian settlement.

Because of the tense atmosphere that exists in the community Police Captain John Norton said the inquest, which will be resumed tomorrow, will be held in the Maxwell street station so Vitale and Di Chiaro may be guarded from possible violence.

Mt. Sterling, Ill., Oct. 2.—(P)—Like many another middle-western town, Mt. Sterling had a fall celebration today. And, in the tradition, a street wedding was the main event.

Riggs is 65 years old; his bride, 64.

Increasing Violence Marks Spread of Farmers Strike For Advance in Milk Prices

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(P)—Increasing violence tonight marked the spread of a farmers' "strike" that threatened Chicago and suburbs with a depleted milk supply.

One farmer-picket was in jail at Woodstock, county seat of McHenry county, as the result of wrecking of a milk truck driven by a deputy sheriff. More arrests were promised by Sheriff Henry Nulle.

Three other truck drivers, one a former sheriff's deputy, reported they had been "slugged" by pickets who stopped their trucks and dumped milk on the highways.

Through these tactics, coupled with peaceful persuasion methods, the strikers definitely tightened their hold on the market and brightened their hopes of forcing a higher price for their product.

The milk dealers, who last night assured the Chicago area a full supply, tonight were willing to guarantee to meet only "reasonable requests."

This, Paul Potter, secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., explained, meant that if the normal demand were increased by fears of a milk "famine," the extra burden could not be carried.

The Pure Milk Association, milk producers' organization which provides 95 per cent of the supply by contract with the dealers, "does not

POTATO CONTROL BILL WILL NOT BE ENFORCED

Secretary Declares Common Sense To Be Used

By Jerry Greene.

Associated Press Staff Writer, Washington, Oct. 2.—(P)—Blunt notice that "I'm going to do all I can to avoid enforcing the potato control bill" came from Secretary Wallace today as growers gathered in the capital to consider a substitute for the statutory tax curb of potato production.

"I don't want to enforce the potato control act," Wallace emphasized to his press conference. "We've tried to use common sense at all times."

His statement came in the midst of Republican charges that the administration was seeking to evade enforcement of the law.

The AAA has called a hearing at 10 a. m. tomorrow to consider alternatives to the tax of 1 cent per pound Congress voted on all potatoes sold in excess of a national allotment. Wallace said today that no funds had yet been found to collect the tax, and that unless funds were available, the law probably could not be enforced.

The tax control plan would become effective December 1. AAA officials said they expect sharp criticism tomorrow both from producers who want tax control and from those who oppose the regulation.

Wallace remark was the first open statement of the administration's opposition to tax control of potatoes, though it has been conceded privately in the agriculture department ever since the law was passed. He indicated, however, that the administration expects to provide some form of aid for the commercial potato producers.

"We want to get their judgment," Wallace said. "They're in real trouble. The price of potatoes is less than half of parity."

Many conferences have been held to find a way of helping the potato producers, Wallace said, and many proposals have been made. But he emphasized that the solution to the problem cannot be known until after tomorrow's hearing.

Referring to his comment upon the potato law, Wallace added:

"I've merely indicated my own attitude."

Tom Mooney Turns To Supreme Court

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—(P)—Tom Mooney turned again to the United States supreme court tonight in his fight for freedom—declaring his habeas corpus hearing here is a "travesty" that should be stopped.

In the surprise move, which came while the hearing ordered by the California supreme court was in its third week, Mooney asked the country's highest tribunal to assume jurisdiction over his new plea for vindication of the 1916 preparedness day bombing here which killed 10 persons.

"It is certain beyond a reasonable doubt that the judgment of the supreme court of California will be adverse," stated the petition, filed in Washington by John F. Finerty of Mooney counsel.

The action, which renewed a motion denied by the United States supreme court early this year for leave to file a petition for an original writ of habeas corpus, was brought on the ground Mooney now has exhausted all means of relief in California.

ETHIOPIANS ON MARCH TOWARD BATTLE FRONT

Native Drums To Call Ten Million, Women, Men, Boys To Arms

By James A. Mills.

Associated Press Foreign Staff, Addis Ababa, Oct. 2.—(P)—Nearly 250,000 Ethiopian fighters were reported on the march tonight, some toward the Italian colonial frontier, in anticipation of a general mobilization tomorrow.

Native drums echoing through valleys and mountains will call 10,000,000 men, women and boys into service in the face of a threatened war with Italy.

Emperor Haile Selassie decided upon the mobilization, which he will proclaim from the balcony of the imperial palace, after dispatching a protest to Geneva charging Italy has already invaded his kingdom with 50,000 troops.

One hundred thousand Ethiopians were reported marching from Gondar toward the Eritrean frontier, where Italy is expected to strike. This vast army was followed by 60,000 warriors from four provinces led by Ras Muligeta, minister of war. Another 80,000 troops from Jima and Wallaga province were said to be on their way to Addis Ababa to protect the capital.

The Addis Ababa correspondent of the Paris Soir reported fighting between Italian and Ethiopian troops had already started in the Mussa Ali—eastern-section of Ethiopia and that there have been casualties.

The newspaper, although previous Ethiopian reports said none of the country's troops was in that vicinity, asserted three columns of advancing Italian troops, totalling 25,000 men, fought with irregular Danakil tribesmen. The Italians have not yet met Ethiopian regulars, the report said.

In the traditional Ethiopian fashion, drums will call the warriors to arms. The beats will be taken up by other drum-beaters in a momentous warning which will resound throughout the land. Mobilization orders are already in the hands of provincial governors.

Before making the decision, the little king conferred at length today with his advisors. Some officials here expressed belief war may break out even before the arrival of Italian consular agents from the interior. They have been called in for safety.

Third Reich Has No Intention Of Joining Italy

Hitler Promises He Will Not Attempt To Profit By Situation

By Robert Parker

Associated Press Foreign Staff, Paris, Oct. 2.—(P)—Premier Pierre Laval, cautious in committing France to a definite attitude in the Italian-Ethiopian conflict in fear of what Germany would do, today received Adolf Hitler's assurance, transmitted through Great Britain, that the third Reich has no intention of joining Italy, French officials said.

Official circles learned of Hitler's reported promise not to attempt to "draw any profit from the present situation" as Laval conferred with his defense ministers over a new alarm—the reported invasion of Ethiopia by Italian troops.

The premier expressed the fear that sanctions are near and that the war feeling in Europe had been heightened. He anxiously awaited the league's call to such measures.

French officialdom found nothing disturbing in Mussolini's speech, however, dismissing it as "nothing new." The French welcomed it as having "cleared the air of too much war talk."

The French premier is prepared to discuss with Anthony Eden, British spokesman at Geneva, the draft of the Franco-British joint action before the League of Nations, now that he has Britain's assurance that Hitler will keep the peace.

FUEL TAX COLLECTIONS

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 2.—(P)—Motor fuel tax collections during September totaled $3,267,501.67 and were the highest for any month since the gasoline tax law became effective in 1929, the department of finance announced today.

Gas tax revenues were $3,124,803.55 for August and $2,987,657.42 for September, 1934.

September sales tax collections neared the five million dollar mark. Finance Director K. L. Ames, Jr., announced they totaled $4,922,352.65, compared with $4,764,612.78 during August, the first collections under the new three per cent rate.

U.S. TO REMAIN 'UNENTANGLED,' FREE, FDR SAYS

Will Avoid Perils That Endanger Our Peace

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 2.—(P)—President Roosevelt served notice on the war-threatened world today that the United States is sternly determined "to avoid those perils that will endanger our peace."

Without directly mentioning the Italo-Ethiopian situation, he said this country "shall not remain unentangled and free."

"The gospel of the good neighbor" was preached with fervor an hour before he was scheduled to view maneuvers of 130 warships in sight offshore as he spoke.

"This country needs no conquest," he said. "We have no imperial designs."

Addressing himself to the domestic situation, Mr. Roosevelt also warned against "those who would raise false issues." He spoke of present conditions as offsetting false preachments. Although the depression is not finally solved, he said, "the outlook is clearer. As the burden lifts, the federal government can and will greatly divest itself of the emergency responsibility, but it cannot ignore the imperfections of the old order."

A review of existing circumstances led to this presidential conclusion: "We stand once more upon an economic plateau. We have, therefore, a right to look forward to the bright future while, at the same time, we remember the mistakes of the past."

American principles of freedom of religion and liberty of conscience were upheld, as he reminded that these principles were being violated under other flags.

Pleads Guilty To Murder; Sentenced

Edwardsville, Ill., Oct. 2.—(P)—John Pulliam, 50, laborer, pleaded guilty to the murder of Gladys Marler, 16-year-old Van Buren, Mo., housemaid, and was sentenced by Judge A. D. Reiss to 99 years in the Illinois penitentiary.

The girl's body was found in a Mississippi river barge near Venice, Ill., last July 31.

Pulliam, after pleading not guilty, reversed his plea before the trial got underway and was sentenced immediately.

Pulliam admitted hiring the girl from her relatives home in St. Louis with a promise to find her a job. When she upbraided him for delay, he said, he struck her over the head and threw her body into the slough. Pulliam said he had been drinking heavily but denied he had attempted to attack the girl.

Authorities said Pulliam was suffering from a disease of long duration and would be taken to a state hospital for the criminally insane.

He interviewed witnesses and examined the original will of the Elizabethan Nobleman, whose supposed $27,000,000 estate was the basis of the alleged swindle. Some of the witnesses and a copy of the will will be introduced at the trial, it was indicated.

However, Mrs. Hogeboom defeated Mrs. Chester Keating of St. Joseph, one up.

IL DUCE SPEAKS TO MILLIONS IN PUBLIC SQUARES

Italian Offensive On Ethiopia May Begin October 5 To 10

By John Evans

Associated Press Foreign Staff, Rome, Oct. 2.—(P)—Benito Mussolini, his fists clenched, sternly pledged a mobilized fascist nation tonight to meet "war" with "war" if the League of Nations imposes military sanctions upon Italy.

High on the balcony of his Venezia palace, which was illuminated by flares, Il Duce spoke, he said, to "twenty million" men mobilized in public squares throughout Italy.

"A solemn hour is about to strike in the history of the Fatherland," Il Duce shouted to his listeners in "the most gigantic demonstration which the history of the human race recalls."

His voice carried to 7,329 communities. Slowly, but forcefully, Premier Mussolini almost shouted each word with long pauses between them. Throughout there was the silence of an army on review, punctuated with the wildest cheering.

"Not only our army marches towards its goal, but 44,000,000 Italians are marching with the army," he said. A wave of wild enthusiasm and excitement swept through Italy as the populace was called out without warning in the long-awaited national mobilization.

Mussolini said he did not believe the real French or British people ever would execute military sanctions. He struck out at the League of Nations.

While he spoke of the British posters on surrounding walls he said Italy "finds it simply monstrous" that Britain, "which dominates the world," should refuse Italy "a poor strip of land in Africa."

The government protected the British embassy with 300 police and helmeted soldiers. They formed three lines about the building and grounds.

Il Duce, in a blackshirt under his corporal's uniform, marked his points with strong gestures, using both arms and often clenching his fists.

"The mobilization" came with sirens, bells and drums at 3:30 P. M. and ended at 7:15, a few minutes after Mussolini finished his 15-minute "message" to his people.

Immediately afterward, unofficial observers predicted the Italian offensive upon Ethiopia would begin between Oct. 5 and 10—provided rains there end.

He said he would not visit Miss Barrie, 20-year-old admirer who followed him half way across the continent on his recent trip from New York to Hollywood.

"Miss Barrie," the stage and screen lover said, "is a charming and lovely girl, but is seeking publicity."

Barrymore said he would board his yacht at Miami, Fla., for the cruise and subsequent motion picture work.

The actor said he enjoyed seeing his two children in Hollywood. His formal answer denying Dolores Costello

Home Hazards

A campaign is getting under way throughout the country to eliminate accident hazards in the home. A majority of accidents occur in or around the home, and often serious injury and even death are the sad results.

Hazards in the home may originate in the premises or from the carelessness of members of the family.
A loose rug on a slick floor, steep basement stairs, rickety porch steps, lack of railings on stairways, all are examples of hazards that may exist on the premises. These and many more can be eliminated if the people in the home are aware of them and know their danger.

But carelessness must be eradicated by each individual member of the family. Often the safety of a person depends on his own ability to take care of himself and his use of caution.
Many an accident could be prevented by a little forethought.

We all feel comparatively safe within the home; yet our chances of being injured there are rather great.
The campaign to lessen home hazards is not out of place; but every member of the family can reduce such hazards to a minimum by proper care and cooperation.

Going Horseback

The ominous "man on horseback" may be a dictator in Europe, but in this country he arouses no suspicions.
He is merely a citizen with some leisure who takes a lot of pleasure in riding a horse over unfrequented roads. The numbers of such pleasure-seekers are increasing and the demand for saddle horses exceeds the supply.
The reason is, people have learned that scenery viewed from a motor car window passes too fast and is often too monotonous. Some of the best scenery is to be found along the byways and in the hills where there are no paved roads, thru deep woods and along bridle paths. Sights in these places can best be seen from the back of a horse moving at a leisurely pace.

The City of Chicago alone has hundreds of miles of good bridle paths thru its parks and forest preserves, and thruout the national forests the government is building trails that will prove inviting routes for the horseback rider. At most of the popular summer recreation places riding horses are kept for hire and the business has become profitable.

The citizen who can afford to keep a riding horse and use him an hour or two each day will find his disposition improving, provided of course the horse is gentle. He will get some good exercise and a chance to enjoy country air and scenery. The increase in popularity of horseback riding is an evidence that Americans are learning to slow down a bit and take life a little easier.

Beating A Noble Retreat

Recent news from Italy might lead an old-time reader of nursery rhymes to wonder if the world is not about to witness a repetition of the performance made famous by the noble Duke of York.

The noble duke, as you may remember, had a thousand men; and after marching them boldly uphill one day, he 'bout-faced and marched them gallantly down again.

Since the British navy began concentrating in the Mediterranean, it has been possible to notice a watering-down in the warlike speeches at Rome. Mussolini has declared over and over again that Italy could not withdraw on any account; now, however, there is a faint trace of a more moderate attitude to be heard, just a suggestion that if it could be done with the right flourish Il Duce might be willing to modify his bellicose plans.

Strange, the change that can come over a statesman when he takes a Saturday.

Dictated Journalism

An American choral society gave a concert in Moscow recently. In their advance announcements of the event the Moscow newspapers declared that among the singers were Lawrence Tibbett, Richard Crooks, Richard Borelli and several other famous artists, none of whom was within three thousand miles of the place.

This, naturally, made both visiting Americans and Muscovite patrons very sore; and the Soviet state trust responsible for publicity in the newspapers felt called on to rebuke the editors, declaring that they obviously did not possess "even rudimentary knowledge in their field" and blaming the mistake on their "abyssal ignorance."

The criticism, of course, was perfectly proper. But such mistakes are what you let yourself in for when you chain your newspapers to a rigid party dogma and make them the tools of a dictatorship. The newspaperman's competence becomes less important than his doctrinal soundness, in such cases; and while the newspapers may become excellent sources of propaganda, they cease to be reliable as mediums of plain, everyday news.

Blind Mother Love

The New Jersey mother who for 18 years refused to let her daughter be taken to a hospital for an emergency operation made necessary by a ruptured appendix is a tragic example of the way in which a sincere and protective love can go astray and do more harm than good.

This mother feared hospitals and operations. She loved her daughter as truly as any other mother in the land, and she wanted to protect her, to save her from danger, just as every other mother does.

But how frightfully mistaken was the way in which she tried to do it!
Her daughter suffered from an immediate ailment for which an immediate operation was the only possible cure. Mother love, twisted out of shape by an unreasoning fear, stood between the girl and the one thing that could help her.

It was a tragic illustration of the fact that the purest devotion can be useless unless it is mixed with a little common sense.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—No record of it exists in the archives, but you can be magically certain that the decisive factor in the coal strike situation was an understanding between President Franklin D. Roosevelt of the United States and President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers.

Roosevelt next year will receive the votes of 600,000 miners and their families insofar as union leaders can deliver them.

Lewis goes to the A. P. of L. convention in Atlantic City Oct. 7 as the rank's strongest and most outstanding labor leader, known now as a brilliant strategist with an almost unequalled string of victories hanging from his belt.

Think back to last April, when the wage agreement between bituminous operators and miners expired. Roosevelt was afraid of a coal strike. Lewis, who wanted a wage increase more than anything else, and needed it to strengthen his position and his union in the face of rising living costs, feared that bogey of miners—a summer strike.

So Lewis became the chief force behind five successive postponements and continuances of the agreement, each of which brought him nearer a strategic time for a walkout to force a new wage scale.

Slack Maneuver By Lewis
Meanwhile, however, Lewis was using the threat of that coal strike to push the Guffey bill, which no one thought last April would have a chance. Because the bill meant higher prices, a large group of operators could be depended on not to force the issue and bring on a strike at a time disadvantageous to the union.

Finally, working with the wily
Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, Lewis got White House support for the bill and it passed.

Perhaps Roosevelt, and certainly many others, thought that would be the last of the strike threat. But Lewis wasn't half through.

Wage negotiations were resumed.
The operators wouldn't come through with the 10 per cent wage increase he wanted, so he decided the time was ripe to strike.

His final triumph was in keeping the White House out of it. Roosevelt, alarmed at the possibility of a coal shortage which might cripple industry, proposed to intervene and get both sides to arbitrate. Lewis wasn't having any. Miners are traditionally

Proclamation Calls
Attention to Drop
In State Fire Loss

Governor Calls for Public Cooperation to Keep Good Work Going

Copies of Governor Horner's Fire Prevention Week proclamation have been received in this city, and posted in conspicuous places. The dates of the week are October 6 to 12.

The Governor's proclamation says:
"The fire loss in Illinois for the year ending June 30, 1935, as compiled from official reports, was $3,549,703, a decrease of more than 50 per cent from the total of $19,476,606 in the preceding year. This is the lowest annual loss reported in the history of the State Fire Marshal's office.

"Absence of large conflagrations played a part in bringing down the loss total. The exercise of care by a large number of our citizens was a contributing factor to this favorable showing. There has been a decided decline in large part to the state-wide drive on arson, resulting in 70 convictions for crimes of burning and the breaking up of a formidable arson ring.

"Unfortunately, due to fire, 102 lives were sacrificed and 378 persons were injured. The property loss is insignificant compared to the human loss.

"Fire prevention is the important business of conserving life and property from the unnecessary ravages of fires which can be kept largely under control by reasonable diligence. The favorable record made last year may be made the starting point for permanently low levels in fire losses in our state if our citizens generally will cooperate.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, HENRY
HORNER, Governor of Illinois, do hereby designate and proclaim the week from October 6 to 12, 1935, to be observed in the State of Illinois as Fire Prevention Week.

"Unnecessary hazards and thoughtless acts of carelessness cause most fires and their consequent casualties.
Individuals should develop the habit of exercising reasonable care in all things which may cause fire. Since habits are frequently formed in youth,
I urge that appropriate fire prevention programs be held in all schools, with talks by uniformed firemen, and exercises in fire prevention, where possible.

"City officials and fire chiefs should be leaders in the observance of the week in their respective communities.
This observance should include a thorough fire inspection of all important properties, such as business and manufacturing districts, schools, theaters, hospitals, churches and the like,
and the conducting of fire drills.

"Owners and tenants of all building should be encouraged to give the premises a thorough cleanup, place heating equipment and flues in safe condition for winter service and correct fire hazard conditions generally.

"Civic organizations, the press and the radio are invited to cooperate in the educational aspects of the observance.

"In our common war on fire waste
there should be no neutrality with fire hazards."

opposed to compulsory arbitration.

Laurels—and Votes
Lewis assured the president that intervention would make the miners wild—that he would have them in his pocket if he kept hands off. He promised that the strike would be short.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Ed
McGrady helped Lewis convince Roosevelt. The strike became effective while union men, armed with operators here in all-night conferences.
Operators—some of whom, anticipating profits under the Guffey bill, offered little resistance—went first to 75 per cent and finally caved in for increases equivalent to 10 per cent.

Lewis walked off with the laurels and Roosevelt went west assured of the support of the United Mine Workers.

Oiling Hardin Ave. Started Wednesday

Grading and Culvert Work is Completed; Road Will Be Closed a Few Days

The work of oiling Hardin avenue from Morton to Michigan avenue was started yesterday morning. Grading and culvert work have been completed on the mile of road, and an excellent job has been done. The weather has been favorable and the work has progressed without a hitch.

The road will be closed to traffic until oiling is completed and the oil has had time to settle. The improvement will mean an all-weather link between the east and south routes out of the city that may be used in preference to the more congested pavement along Main street and Morton avenue.

It will also serve as an improved route to Nichols park and the city pumping plant. The mile of improved road will be much traveled, because it promises to be one of the best oiled roads in the city.

Roosevelt Dedicates Mighty Dam

"It is a simple fact that government spending is beginning to show definite signs of its effect on consumer. On a flag-decked platform 700 feet above the turbid Colorado, the great white arc of Boulder Dam stretched below him, President Roosevelt is pictured above as he dedicated the $108,000,000 engineering marvel in a speech interpreted as a sweeping defense of his broad recovery policies and immense governmental outlay of money. Listening crowds thronged the ribbon of concrete highway in the distance.

Oiling Hardin Ave. Started Wednesday

The work of oiling Hardin avenue from Morton to Michigan avenue was started yesterday morning. Grading and culvert work have been completed on the mile of road, and an excellent job has been done. The weather has been favorable and the work has progressed without a hitch.

The road will be closed to traffic until oiling is completed and the oil has had time to settle. The improvement will mean an all-weather link between the east and south routes out of the city that may be used in preference to the more congested pavement along Main street and Morton avenue.

It will also serve as an improved route to Nichols park and the city pumping plant. The mile of improved road will be much traveled, because it promises to be one of the best oiled roads in the city.

Cubs Blank Tigers In First Game Of World Series 3 To 0

What Happened in Clubhouses After Game by Dunkley

By Charles Dunkley
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit, Oct. 3.—(AP)—With a roar that shook the rafters the Cubs stomped through the door of their dressing room today almost taking it off the hinges in celebration of their first triumph over the Detroit Tigers. In came Big Tex Carleton, the right handed pitcher, leading the procession. In came Charlie Grimm, the proud, smiling manager of the Cubs, Herman Galan, Lindstrom and all the rest, yelling, hollering and sweating. Grimm went over to Lonnie Warneke, the pride of the Ozarks, and shook his hand warmly.

"Nice pitching," Grimm yelled. Then he turned to his players and blurted out: "You guys are all gentlemen, great big gentlemen."

"Old Charlie Root will go after those guys tomorrow. We're one up on 'em and we're going to make it two up."

"A helluva home run, Frankie," Grimm, hollered at Demaree, "great third base, Stanislaus (meaning Stan Hack), nice some everybody. You guys are all gentlemen."

Warneke did not know that he had tied the world's record for assists made by a pitcher in a world series until he reached the clubhouse.

"If I had thrown Cochrane out in the fifth I would have broken a record, wouldn't I? But what's the difference, I was out there to win. Records didn't mean nothing to me. I won one if I never win another. Boy—that's run. When I passed those two guys in the fourth inning I just said to myself—'Gee, that's just what I did.'"

Gabby Hartnett, the big catcher, wearing a day's growth of whiskers and chewing gum as fast as his jaws would move, was hilariously happy.

"Both Warneke and Rowe pitched great ball. It was tough for either of them to lose."

Warneke's overhand curve was breaking beautifully, Hartnett said, causing the Tigers to hit above it or top it.

"Warneke was in trouble only that once," Hartnett said, "when he passed those two men in the fourth. Aside from that he seemed able to put the ball just where he wanted it. He had great control."

Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals, came into the room, threw his arms around Hartnett and then pulled him over into a corner where they whispered together for several minutes.

Grimm said that both clubs were riding each other and admitted that

Warneke Holds Bengals to 4 Hits While Teammates Gather Seven Off "Schoolboy" Rowe

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor

Navin Field, Detroit, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs are still the "hottest" Cub in baseball. They demonstrated it conclusively today for the benefit of 47,391 somewhat subdued fanatics and the Detroit Tigers by salping off with the first game of the 1935 World Series, 3 to 0, behind the spectacular pitching of Lonnie Warneke.

The long, lean right-hander from the Ozarks blanked the American League champions with four hits. Except for one spell of wildness in the fourth inning, Warneke had the Tigers "topping" most of their shots with a sharp-breaking "screw ball." He took the honors in an all-Arkansas pitching duel with Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, giant right-hander of the home town, and topped off his superlative performance by squalling a World Series record with eight assists.

It was an old-fashioned hurling duel, one of the best any World Series opener has witnessed in at least a dozen years.

Rowe, employing a sharp-breaking curve and a fine change of pace, allowed only seven hits. The big right-hander struck out eight Cubs but was the victim of his own as well as his mates' jittery defense. The Schoolboy got better as the game went along but it didn't do him any good as the Tigers failed to seize any of their scattered scoring chances.

The Cubs, leaping to the attack with the same aggressiveness that marked their belated charge to the top of the National League, settled the game with a two-run rally in the first inning. Augie Galan's double, caroming off Billy Rogell's hands, followed by Rowe's attempted sacrifice, brought in the first run. Freddie Lindstrom's sacrifice and Gabby Hartnett's sharp single to right scored Herman with the second marker.

A final salute to the Tigers and their rooters, Frank Demaree clouded one of Rowe's fast balls high into the temporary left-field bleachers at the start of the ninth. It was the best shot of the day and helped convince all and sundry onlookers that the national league champions have the punch, as well as the speed, spirit and pitching to keep the Tigers back on their heels.

Whether or not the Chicagoans are off on another streak, to cap the climax of their 21-game drive to the pennant, remains to be seen. They were much the better ball club today, hustling, taking advantage of opportunities and putting up a brisk defense all the way against a team that still seemed to have a hang-over from its erratic last month of American League campaigning.

The Cubs not only are "hot" but they are playing with all the carefree ease and nonchalance of a bunch of collegians. They are one of the youngest outfits to enter a World Series in years but they didn't show a sign of tension under fire and before a howling crowd of Detroit rooters.

Warneke made their job easy, not only by his brilliant pitching but by personally attending to the disposal of a third of the home team. Lonnie's total of eight assists tied the series mark, set in 1906 by Nick Altrock of the White Sox. He could have made it nine and a new record for himself if he had tossed to first on Mickey Cochrane's fifth inning roller, instead of running to first to make the put-out personally. With a total of nine chances, including this solo pitch, Warneke was two shy of Altrock's mark of 11.

There was only one spell of unbusiness for Warneke and his mates. That was in the fourth when, with one out, Lonnie suddenly lost control in his attempt to cut too many corners. He walked big Hank Greenberg, clean-up cloutier of the Tigers, as well as Goose Goslin. He pitched seven successive balls. The crowd was yelling wildly. Tiger coaches were acting like maniacs and all familiar artifices were employed by the home side in an attempt to stimulate a "blowup" by the Cub ace.

Pete Fox, who got half of the Tigers' four hits during the afternoon, came to bat in this critical juncture, but the best he could do was dribble a grounder to Bill Jurgens, who made the throw-out at first base as the runners each advanced. Billy Rogell was equally unable to rise to the emergency, with a basehit needed to tie the score. He rolled weakly to

Phil Cavarretta, the youthful Cub first sacker who grabbed the ball a bit nervously but leaped to the bag well ahead of Rogell for the third out. Safely past this crisis, his control regained, Warneke easily pitched himself out of difficulty in the fifth after Rowe, with one down, carried a two-base hit through the Cub infield. The Schoolboy stretched the hit by a tremendous slide into second base. He ran to third on Jo-Jo White's grounder to Herman and was stranded as manager Cochrane tapped weakly to Warneke.

Greenberg and Rowe were the only Tigers to get as far as third base against Warneke's baffling combination of speed and a sharp-digging "screwball." Most of the Detroit hitters were thoroughly baffled.

Warneke made his first World Series triumph a shout-out after finishing the regular pennant season with seven successive victories. His last game before the series was a two-hit shutout of the St. Louis Cardinals, so that he has yielded only six hits in his last 18 innings against the two ball clubs that were battling it out just a year ago for the world championship.

Between the first and last innings, the Cubs were not particularly fearsome to Rowe. The Schoolboy's well known dislike for the kind of chilly breezes swirling through the park may have contributed to his shaky start, but he quickly settled down to match Warneke's best for the next seven frames.

The Tigers were charged with three errors today, as compared with five in the opening game a year ago, but their performance was not calculated to stir the enthusiasm of the crowd.

The American Leaguers not only were erratic on the defense but didn't exhibit anything resembling a batting punch. The nearest to a scoring shot

One of the axioms of baseball soon will be for scouts to scour Arkansas. After yesterday's pitching performance of Lon Warneke and Schoolboy Rowe, the scouts will pay particular attention to the backwoods.

Warneke, of course, gets the palm for the day, but just the same, a seven hit game is mighty tough to lose. Those three Tiger errors didn't help a bit either.

Detroit, which is the seat of buyers' strikes, had another one just before the world series opened. Scalers, who had picked up a lot of grand stand and reserved seats, along with a few boxes, found themselves left with some of the precious tickets on hand when the game time came around.

A change in the plan of conducting the state sponsoring districts is in the making. If the proposal is adopted by the board of control, 14 teams will be assigned to each district center and these schools will then be rated in the same manner as in the past with the eight teams in the lower bracket competing in a tournament in February. These teams would then play through to a championship, the winner to receive a trophy and the runner-up to be likewise rewarded. Both the winner and runner-up would then join with the six teams who had the higher rating for an eight team district. From this point on, there would be no further change in the plan used in the past.

Financial terms would be the same as in the last few years with all 14 teams sharing in the jack-pot.

Tentative plans for the new set-up have been mailed all tournament managers and, while some objected, it is believed that the board will formally approve the same at its October convocation at Peoria.

The plan looks very feasible to this column, and apparently will solve the problem that came up after last year's district tournaments. It may not be entirely fair, but then, it is much fairer than any other system we've seen attempted. It might be termed pre-consolation affair, in view of the fact that the teams that would be dropped to lose in the first round, will be eliminated in a consolation tournament to choose a competitor for the big affair.

Principal J. C. Much yesterday called attention to the fact that next Monday will be examination day for football officials of this district. The officials will begin writing on the rules at four o'clock, at the high school office.

Two prominent aspirants for backfield jobs at Bradley Tech were declared ineligible Tuesday by scholastic and athletic authorities. The duo included Don Olson and Percy Dasovich, both of Minnesota, who sought posts on the 1935 grid team. Olson was in college last year elsewhere and so must lay out a year before continuing play with Bradley, while Dasovich was found to be a college graduate.

An old record went by the boards yesterday at Routh when Raymond Roth, guard on the varsity team, knocked the tackling dummy over the bar from which it has hung.

Coach Wally Baptist declares that some of his biggest players, Dave Lawless, Vincent Lonergan, Carl Weidlocher, and a lot of others have been tried to knock the dummy over the bar, but until last night, the dummy had them licked.

And then, after Roth had banged the dummy over the bar twice, Bill Buoy, the mite quarterback crashed the field with any in this section. The fourth game of the series will be played at Fieldon next Sunday and in case the locals win the final game will be played the following Sunday. The score:

Carrollton-Kane 000 230 100-8
Fieldon 300 002 000-3

Both Leagues Hold 'Jack Horner' Party

The Jacksonville State Hospital play-by-play board has been put up again this year, and is being used to broadcast the world series games to the patients at the hospital.

We also heard yesterday that one of the professors at Illinois College, turned out his class so he could go home and listen to the world series. It may have been just a rumor—but one of the boys in a freshman English course told us about it.

Buban led the whole group in hitting up until the last day of the tournament. Joe Beaudin, former Routh high player, also was a member of the team that made the trip. Keithley is a student at Illinois College.

The Philadelphia Athletics had priority rights in the draft session last night, as the club which wound up in the cellar in the junior circuit. So Manager Connie Mack stuck in both thumbs and pulled out a couple of minor league plums.

Mack's prizes are Harry Kelly who pitched Atlanta to 23 triumphs this season and was charged with 13 defeats, and George Puccinelli, Baltimore outfielder who led the International League in batting with an unofficial average of .359. Puccinelli slammed out 53 four-baggers, drove in 172 runs and crossed the plate with 135 counters during the season.

The other American League clubs drafted a player each from the minors. National League organizations announced no draft selections at the meeting.

The St. Louis Browns chose Catcher Angelo Guillian of St. Paul, who finished the season with an average of .276 at the plate.

Washington selected Pete Appleton, a pitcher who won 22 games and lost 9 during the past season for Montreal. Appleton is no newcomer to the big leagues. He has played with the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago White Sox, but his name appeared then in the box scores as Pete Jablonowski.

Other American League draft selections: Boston Red Sox—Manuel Salva, Sacramento, Calif., hurler who won 11 and lost 11.

Cleveland—Joseph Becker, who batted .366 for San Francisco.

Detroit—R. W. Phelps, Chattanooga pitcher. The Tigers' draft has been pitching for Davenport, Ia., this season. He won 19 games and lost 10.

The elder Dean said he was offered $20,000, an increase of $1500 over his 1933 contract, early this week.

"But I think I'm entitled to more than that," he declared.

Arnica Much Sought For College Eleven

Two Players Get Severe Cuts And Other Bruises As Practice Gets Rough

There was a steady call for the arnica bottle, smelling salts and a sewing needle on the Illinois College field yesterday when the Blueboys went through their daily session, two players leaving the field with cuts on their heads, and another leaving with a bad hobble. The cause was a stiff scrimmage Coach Ray Nusspeckel dished out in preparation for the game with Parsons here Saturday.

So rapidly were the boys leaving the field at one stage of the drill that the coach called off further scrimmages ran the boys through their signals, and then set them up for a forward pass scrimmage.

Bill Jones, who escaped a bad injury to his head in Tuesday afternoon's work, found old lady luck hiding when he crashed into Pete Reynolds, a freshman. Both players came out of the mix-up with severe cuts that required a couple of clips to close.

Jones was playing an end position on the second string, and Reynolds was playing a bang-up second string tackle when they both met in mauling down one of the varsity ball carriers.

Vernon Ford was the other seriously hurt player, the varsity guard suffering a twisted leg. The full extent of the damage done by the twist, was being determined last night, but it was expected that he would be able to get in the line-up Saturday.

Nusspeckel decided on a scrimmage against passes when Ed Hansen, a sophomore halfback from Chicago, a sophomore passed into the hands of second string receivers so rapidly that the reserves marched the length of the field twice. Hansen gave a beautiful demonstration of throwing passes, zipping them accurately and completing a large majority of his tosses.

Roosevelt Dedicates Mighty Dam

"It is a simple fact that government spending is beginning to show definite signs of its effect on consumer." On a flag-draped platform 700 feet above the turbid Colorado, the great white arc of Boulder Dam stretched below him. President Roosevelt is pictured above as he dedicated the $198,000,000 engineering marvel, in a speech interpreted as a sweeping defense of his broad recovery policies and immense governmental outlay of money. Listening crowds thronged the ribbon of concrete highway in the distance.

Says 90 Per Cent Of Germans Praise Regime of Hitler

John Theivogt on Return from Germany Declares Persecution is Myth

Persecution in Germany is newspaper propaganda, said John Theivogt of Areneville, who returned Sunday night from a three month's trip to his birthplace in Germany, the first trip he had made back home since he left there 50 years ago as a boy of 16.

"No one is molested if he behaves himself," said Mr. Theivogt who admitted, however, that he hadn't believed the militaristic stories of Germany until he arrived there and found the boys of 20 and 30 organized in Storm Troops, youths of 17-20 in Hitler's Young movement, and other organizations from the baby up, even for girls, he said, and he produced a picture of his small niece in her Hitler uniform.

As he visited his old home in Assel on the River Elbe in northern Germany and then toured the country from Hamburg to Cologne, Mainz, Heidelberg, Lake Constance, Munich and Berlin, he said 90 out of 100 people were Hitlerites.

He commented on the building in progress in that country, the satisfied feeling of the Germans who expressed their attitudes as "we're over the hill; other countries have to get there yet." "We now feel safe" was the expression of many when questioned concerning Hitler. He said the former restlessness caused by street gatherings and small agitators was quelled by Hitler's program. No longer did the Germans fear they were reaching a state similar to that of Russia.

"After reading newspapers and magazines here, I thought Hitler was a man-eating animal of some kind," Mr. Theivogt said, "but in Germany I found he was liked by 90 out of 100 there."

The German's sentiment is entirely against Italy in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, he found. They believe the Abyssinians are not savages; otherwise they would never have been admitted to the League of Nations.

"The Germans feel sorry for the poor soldiers who have to go to war," he said, "but they hope Italy gets a whipping."

Miss Mildred Cameron of Winchester spent Wednesday in Jacksonville shopping.

HAGERISCASS COUNTY AGENT

Supervisors Move To Refund Outstanding Bonds Totalling $50,000

Virginia, Oct. 2.—The Cass County board of supervisors met today and appointed Karl Hager county agent for the poor. A motion was also made to refund the outstanding bonds amounting to approximately $50,000.

H. S. Speers & Sons of Chicago, who purchased bonds amounting to $65,000 following a vote on the bond issue in 1928, will take up the present amount. The present action was made necessary owing to the inadequacy of the levy of four cents on the hundred authorized by the present bond issue to retire the required $3,000 yearly interest. Under the refunding act passed by the legislature in the past year, allowance was made for refunding of the bonds and levying of the necessary rate to obtain the required amount.

A representative of the Chicago bonding company will be in Virginia Wednesday, Oct. 3, when the board meets again to complete final arrangements for the refunding of the bonds.

DISCUSS DRIVERS' LICENSES AT H. S. FORUM MEETING

Drivers licenses were discussed at the first regular program meeting of the high school Forum last evening. The question for debate was—"Resolved, that drivers' licenses should be compulsory in the state of Illinois." The affirmative team of Mary Frances Gaumer and Ralph Dunlap won a close decision from the negative group of Mary Butler and Arthur Hailerberger.

Following the debate, Jane Dunlap gave an interesting extemporaneous speech on drivers' licenses.

During the business session, the new members were officially welcomed into the club and plans were completed for the annual fall picnic and initiation which will be held next Wednesday. At this time students will be initiated who passed the tryouts this fall along with those who were taken in last spring.

HAS NO CANDIDATE

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(P)—Despite the fact that Gov. Henry Horner is an announced candidate for re-election Mayor E. J. Kelly today said "I have no candidate for governor."

Mayor Kelly did not mention Gov. Horner's name and did not intimate that he was opposed to his re-election. He said:

"I have no candidate for governor, and I will be for whoever I think will be the best for the interests of the people of Illinois and the Democratic party."

"All I mean is just what I say, that I have no candidate for governor."

FAVORS PROHIBITION

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 2.—(P)—Mrs. W. L. Ferguson, president of the Illinois Women's Christian Temperance Union, told the State W. C. T. U. convention today the present liquor traffic under repeal will bring a return of prohibition "which we will welcome."

"Education as to the evils of liquor is our chief program at present," she said.

The president said membership of the organization has steadily increased since repeal.

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 2.—(P)—Major W. T. Vandever, 53, today announced an outright gift of $100,000 to the Taylorville Board of Education to be used in the construction of a new high school.

The retired banker asked that the school be named the "Vandever High School" in memory of his father, H. M. Vandever.

Plans have been made to construct a $470,000 building, with $211,000 to come from the Public Works Administration and the rest from a bond issue.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(P)—Farmers of the Chicago vicinity have won one race with jack frost. It was indicated today. No matter when he sends a killing frost now they will have the vested largest tomato crop for the territory on record. The fruit is sold to the canning factories and many truck farmers were reported getting $20 a ton for this product, with the yield in some cases running as high as 20 tons to the acre.

Ickes Orders Speed in Beginning PWA Works

Washington, Oct. 2.—(P)—"Ruthless" treatment of delays in starting work on PWA's last batch of projects was ordered today by Secretary Ickes.

In a statement issued here during the PWA administrator's western tour with President Roosevelt, Ickes said all projects not under construction by December 15 would be cancelled and funds transferred to the others left stranded in the reduced $200,000,000 work relief allotments approved by the president.

Ickes' warning coincided with disclosure by works progress administration officials that the president up to October 1 had allotted $954,916,805 to light construction projects.

This sum, estimated by officials to provide employment for 1,250,000 persons, can be spent at the discretion of state administrators on any of $1,907,632,459 worth of simultaneously approved projects.

WPA figures showed total applications for its expected $2,000,000,000 slice of the work relief appropriation totaling $7,113,245,891.

Only $373,210,981 of the allotments, however, has been approved by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl and made available in the states.

Besides $54,371,455 allotted to WPA for white collar and other nation-wide projects, the $954,916,805 included: Illinois $371,948,122, Indiana $328,884,461, Iowa $36,382,549, Missouri $25,132,047, Wisconsin $322,629,144.

Fans See and Hear World Series with Journal & Courier

Loud Speaker and Big Play by Play Board Supply Complete Returns

At World Series time there is one spot in Jacksonville where fans gather in large numbers. That is the area on the east side of the Journal and Courier building, where the baseball board is brought out for its annual airing.

The first day of the Series found a big crowd of Cub and Tiger partisans on the job before game time. They were joined later by others who heard the loud speaker and went up by taking a seat in front of the World Series board.

Plenty of tile and plank seats are at disposal of the fans. They are welcome to spend each afternoon at the Journal and Courier, where they can both see and hear the World Series.

The Lakeman Motor Sales company yesterday provided a radio and loud speaker hookup, operating in conjunction with the baseball board. "Red" Tiff well known local baseball pitcher, officiated before the board in keeping tab on the game.

The Journal and Courier World Series board has been a familiar drawing card here for nearly 20 years. The play-by-play account used to be received exclusively by wire. Now both Associated Press wire and radio bring the returns.

Mrs. Julia O'Brien of Brown Street, after being called there by the illness of Mrs. Frank Daugherty, Mrs. Daugherty is somewhat improved now.

Seeing Daddy Off to the War

A tinge of sadness seems to mar the usually merry scene of a father romping with his young son, as this Italian soldier, waiting to board a transport for the East African front, devotes last precious minutes to giving his boy a pickaback ride. Both the smiling lad, daddy's helmet slipping over his face and his grave warrior-father seem affected by the parting.

St. Louis Society Folk Testify In Kidnaping Case

State Rests Its Case Against Nellie Hipton Muench At Mexico, Mo.

By Howard W. Fieger Associated Press Staff Writer.

Mexico, Mo., Oct. 2.—(P)—The state called St. Louis society folk today as it rounded up the evidence it hopes will convict Mrs. Nellie Hipton Muench, former society matron there, of complicity in the kidnaping of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, socially prominent St. Louis physician.

The state rested its case at 3:45 (central standard time).

Mrs. W. D. Orthwein testified red haired Mrs. Muench, 43, who six weeks ago announced the birth of what she called a "gift of God" son after 23 years of childless married life, and a man she believed to be Angelo Rosegrant watched closely the movements of Dr. Kelley at a hotel party two weeks before the abduction. Rosegrant has been convicted of the kidnaping.

Her husband, W. D. Orthwein, said Mrs. Muench's dancing partner at the hotel was Rosegrant and related this part in the negotiation for the release of the wealthy physician.

Donald Church Bixby, a guest at the party, told of Mrs. Muench's attention to the Kelley.

Then the victim, Dr. Kelley, described his 1931 abduction while Mrs. Muench looked on without apparent emotion. He was released without payment of demanded ransom.

Kelley said that during his captivity he heard someone come to the hide-out and ask for "Godlie." Adolph Fiedler, former St. Louis county justice of the peace and ace state witness, testified yesterday he knew Mrs. Muench as Goldie.

Cubs Blank Tigers In First Game Of World Series 3 To 0

What Happened in Clubhouses After Game by Dunkley

By Charles Dunkley
Associated Press Sports Writer
Detroit, Oct. 2.—(P)—With a roar that shook the rafters the Cubs stampeded through the door of their dressing room today almost taking it off the hinges in celebration of their first triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

In came Big Tex, Charleton, the right handed pitcher leading the procession. In came Charlie Grimm, the proud, smiling manager of the Cubs, Herman, Galan, Lindstrom and all the rest, yelling, hollering and sweating.

Grimm went over to Lonnie Warneke, the pride of the Ozarks, and shook his hand warmly.

"Nice pitching," Grimm yelled. Then he turned to his players and burst out: "You guys are all gentlemen, great big gentlemen."

"Old Charlie Root will go after those guys tomorrow. We're one up on 'em and we're going to make it two up."

A helluva home run, Frankie Grimm hollered at Demaree, "great third base, Stanislaus (meaning Stan Hack), nice going everybody. You guys are all gentlemen."

Warneke did not know that he had tied the world record for assists made by a pitcher in a world series until he reached the clubhouse.

"If I had thrown Cochrane out in the fifth I would have broken a record, wouldn't I? But what's the difference, I was out there to win. Records didn't mean nothin' to me. I won one if I never win another. Boy—that's fun. When I passed those two guys in the fourth inning I just said to myself—'calm yourself and settle down to your work. That's just what I did.'"

Gabby Hartnett, the big catcher, wearing a day's growth of whiskers and chewing gum as fast as his jaws would move, was hilariously happy.

"Both Warneke and Rowe pitched great ball. It was tough for either of them to lose."

Warneke's overhand curve was breaking beautifully, Hartnett said, causing the Tigers to hit above it or top it.

"Warneke was in trouble only that once," Hartnett said, "when he passed those two men in the fourth. Aside from that he seemed able to put the ball just where he wanted it. He had great control."

Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals, came into the room, threw his arms around Hartnett and then pulled him over into a corner where they whispered together for several minutes.

Grimm said that both clubs were riding each other and admitted that

Warneke Holds Bengals to 4 Hits While Teammates Gather Seven Off "Schoolboy" Rowe

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor
Navin Field, Detroit, Oct. 2.—(P)—The Chicago Cubs are still the "hottest" Cub in baseball. They demonstrated it conclusively today for the benefit of 47,391 somewhat subdued fanatics and the Detroit Tigers by shutting off with the first game of the 1935 World Series, 3 to 0, behind the spectacular pitching of Lonnie Warneke.

The long, lean right-hander from the Ozarks blanketed the American League champions with four hits except for one spell of wildness in the fourth inning. Warneke had the Tigers "topping" most of their shots with a sharp-breaking "screw ball." He took the honors in an all-Arkansas pitching duel with Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, giant right-hander of the home town, and topped off his superlative performance by equalling a World Series record with eight assists.

It was an old-fashioned hurling duel, one of the best any World Series opener has witnessed in at least a dozen years.

Rowe, employing a sharp-breaking curve and a fine change of pace, allowed only seven hits. The big right-hander struck out eight Cubs but was the victim of his own as well as his mates' jittery defense. The Schoolboy got better as the game went along but it didn't do him any good as the Tigers failed to seize any of their scattered scoring chances.

The Cubs, leaping to the attack with the same aggressiveness that marked their belated charge to the top of the National League, settled the game with a two-run rally in the first inning. Augie Galan's double, caroming off Billy Rogell's double, followed by Rowe's bat throw on Billy Herman's attempted sacrifice, brought in the first run. Freddie Lindstrom's sacrifice and Gabby Hartnett's sharp single to right scored Herman with the second marker.

As a final salute to the Tigers and their rosters, Frank Demaree clouted one of Rowe's fast balls high into the temporary left-field bleachers at the start of the ninth. It was the best shot of the day and helped convince all and sundry onlookers that the National League champions have the punch, as well as the speed, spirit and pitching to keep the Tigers back on their heels.

Whether or not the Chicagoans are off on another streak, to cap the climax of their 21-game drive to the pennant, remains to be seen. They were much the better ball club today, hustling, taking advantage of opportunities and putting up a brisk defense all the way against a team that still seemed to have a hang-over from its erratic last month of American League campaigning.

The Cubs not only are "hot" but they are playing with all the carefree ease and nonchalance of a bunch of collegians. They are one of the youngest outfits to enter a World Series in years but they didn't show a sign of tension under fire and before a howling crowd of Detroit rovers.

Warneke made their job easy, not only by his brilliant pitching but by personally attending to the disposal of a third of the home team. Lonnie's total of eight assists tied the series mark, set in 1906 by Nick Altrock of the White Sox. He could have made it nine and a new record for himself if he had tossed to first on Mickey Cochrane's fifth inning roller. Instead he pitched to first to make the put-out personally. With a total of nine chances, including this solo putout, Warneke was two shy of Altrock's mark of 11.

There was only one spell of uneasiness for Warneke and his mates. That was in the fourth when, with one out, Lonnie suddenly lost control in his attempt to cut too many corners. He walked big Hank Greenberg, clean-up clouter of the Tigers, as well as Goose Goslin. He pitched seven successive balls. The crowd was yelling wildly, Tiger coaches were acting like maniacs and all familiar artifices were employed by the home side in an attempt to stimulate a "blowup" by the Cub ace.

Pete Fox, who got half of the Tigers' four hits during the afternoon, came to bat in this critical juncture but the best he could do was dribble a grounder to Bill Jurgens, who made the throw-out at first base as the runners each advanced. Billy Rogell was equally unable to rise to the emergency, with a basehit needed to tie the score. He rolled weakly to

Phil Cavaretta, the youthful Cub first sacker who grabbed the ball a bit nervously but leaped to the bag well ahead of Rogell for the third out. Safely past this crisis, his control remained. Warneke easily pitched himself out of difficulty in the fifth after Rowe, with one down, caromed a two-base hit through the Cub infield. The Schoolboy stretched the hit by a tremendous slide into second base. He ran to third on Jo-Jo White's grounder to Herman and was stranded as manager Cochrane tapped weakly at

Greenberg and Rowe were the only Tigers to get as far as third base against Warneke's baffling combination of speed and a sharp-digging "screwball." Most of the Detroit hitters were thoroughly baffled.

Warneke made his first World Series triumph a shutout after finishing the regular pennant season with seven successive victories. His last game before the series was a two-hit shutout of the St. Louis Cardinals, so that he has yielded only six hits in his last 18 innings against the two ball clubs that were battling it out last year ago for the world championship.

Between the first and last innings, the Cubs were not particularly fearful of Rowe. The Schoolboy's well known dislike for the kind of chilly breezes swirling through the park may have contributed to his shaky start, but he quickly settled down to match Warneke's best for the next seven frames.

The Tigers were charged with three errors today, as compared with five in a opening game a year ago, but their performance was not calculated to stir the enthusiasm of the crowd.

The American Leagueers not only were erratic on the defense but didn't exhibit anything resembling a batting punch. The nearest to a scoring shot

Mike Jacobs Plans To Take Over Job

Will Gain Control of New York Garden for Five Years, Report

New York.—(P)—The boxing world was waiting today to see whether Mike Jacobs was going to have big-time boxing promotion all to himself.

The Associated Press learned from reliable sources in Detroit last night that Jacobs, promoter of the Louis-Baer fight which grossed more than a million dollars recently, expected to take over the prize ring privileges of New York's Madison Square Garden, main competitor to Jacobs' Twentieth Century club.

His control would cover the next five years and include the Garden's outdoor bowl.

A proposal that Jacobs take over this department, it was learned, was the outcome of the proxy battle between Col. John R. Kilpatrick, president of the Garden corporation, and Col. John S. Hammond. Hammond and Jacobs are former associates of Tex Rickard.

The battle of the colonels ended yesterday when Hammond, who was defeated in the proxy contest, lost his position as chairman of the board of directors. Kilpatrick was again named president of the corporation and its subsidiary, the New York Rangers, professional hockey club. The latter position had been held by Hammond.

The news from Detroit was in confirmation to the announcement of officials following the meeting. They said that no changes in policy were anticipated and that important personnel of the organization would be unchanged "for the time being."

They said that James Johnston, present Garden matchmaker who was criticized by Hammond because the Garden had not succeeded in securing the Louis-Baer and other lucrative bouts, would continue his duties. Attempts to reach Kilpatrick and other members of the corporation were unavailing late last night.

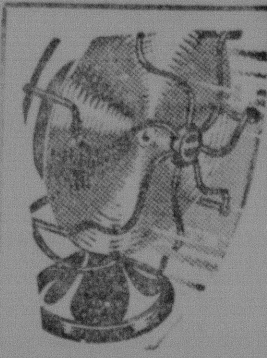

CARROLLTON-KANE PLAYS FIELDON NINE

Carrollton, Ill., Oct. 2.—After losing the first and second games of a series for the baseball championship of Greene-jersey counties to Fieldon, the Carrollton-Kane team came from behind Sunday and trounced Fieldon at the latter city by a score of 8 to 3.

Field Manager Ollie Plummer had in his line-up three men who are considered eligible to the fastest minor league teams. They were, Smaragassi, shirtstop, who has been with the Springfield Three-I club, Dolence, a whirlwind pitcher from Virden and Corbett of Hardin who is an extra good pitcher and also can play the outfield with any in this section. The fourth game of the series will be played at Fieldon next Sunday and in case the locals win the final game will be played the following Sunday. The score:

Carrollton-Kane 000 250 100-8
Fieldon 300 002 000-3

Fan Breezes

One of the axioms of baseball soon will be for scouts to scour Arkansas after yesterday's pitching performances of Lon Warneke and Schoolboy Rowe. The scouts will pay particular attention to the backwoods.

Warneke, of course, gets the palm for the day, but just the same, a seven hit game is mighty tough to lose. Those three Tiger errors didn't help a bit either.

Detroit, which is the seat of buyer's strikes, had another one just before the world series opened. Scalpers, who had picked up a lot of grand stand and reserved seats, along with a few boxes, found themselves left with some of the precious ducks on hand when the game time came around.

A change in the plan of conducting the state sponsoring districts is in the making. If the proposal is adopted by the board of control, 14 teams will be assigned to each district center and these schools will then be rated in the same manner as in the past with the eight teams in the lower bracket competing in a tournament in February. These teams would then play through to a championship and the winner to receive a trophy and the runner-up to be likewise rewarded. Both the winner and runner-up would then join with the six teams who had the higher rating for an eight team district. From this point on, there would be no further change in the plan used in the past.

Financial terms would be the same as in the last few years with all 14 teams sharing in the jack-pot.

Tentative plans for the new set-up have been mailed all tournament managers and, while some objected, it is believed that the board will formally approve the same at its October convocation at Peoria.

The plan looks very feasible to this column, and apparently will solve the problem that came up after last year's district tournaments. It may not be entirely fair, but then, it is much fairer than any other system we've seen attempted. It might be termed a pre-consolation affair, in view of the fact that the teams that would be dropped to lose in the first round, will be eliminated in a consolation tournament to choose a competitor for the big affair.

Principal J. C. Mutch yesterday called attention to the fact that next Monday will be examination day for football officials of this district. The officials will begin writing on the rules at four o'clock, at the high school office.

Two prominent aspirants for backfield jobs at Bradley Tech were declared ineligible Tuesday by scholastic and athletic authorities. The duo included Don Olson and Percy Dasovich, both of Minnesota, who sought spots on the 1935 grid team. Olson was in college last year elsewhere and so must lay out a year before continuing play with Bradley, while Dasovich was found to be a college graduate.

An old record went by the boards yesterday at Routt when Raymond Roth, guard on the varsity team, knocked the tackling dummy over the bar from which it has hung.

Coach Wally Baptist declares that some of his biggest players, Dave Lawless, Vincent Lonergan, Carl Wendtlicher, and a lot of others have tried to knock the dummy over the bar, but until last night, the dummy had them licked.

And then, after Roth had banged the dummy over the bar twice, Bill Buoy, the mite quarterback crashed it so hard that it went over again. McGinnis cracked it over, and then Skeets Lawrence, after taking a 20 yard run, sent it spinning over the bar.

Routt, incidentally, is looking for a tough game with McCoy's high at Hannibal Sunday. The McCoyes tribe the finish of the season, registered a ganged up on Quincy Academy last year, and in one of the games near 14 to 0 victory.

Mart Heinlen, Quincy coach, has 64 boys out for his squad this year, and has an assistant coach who handles the freshmen. There no longer is a Quincy college team, but the Little Hawks are becoming full-sized fledglings now.

John Buban, Red Murgatroyd, and D. Keithley, all of this city have returned from Dayton, Ohio where the Oxford Greys won a second place in the National Amateur league baseball tournament. Houston Texas was the title.

Buban led the whole group in hitting up until the last day of the tournament. Joe Bestudik, former Routt high player, also was a member of the team that made the trip. Keithley is a student at Illinois College.

The Jacksonville State Hospital play-by-play board has been put up again this year, and is being used to broadcast the world series games to the patients at the hospital.

We also heard yesterday that one of the professors at Illinois College turned out his class so he could go home and listen to the world series. It may have been just a rumor—but one of the boys in a freshman English course told us about it.

Both Leagues Hold 'Jack Horner' Party

Connie Mack Selects Pitcher and Outfielder for His Squad

Detroit.—(P)—American League clubs added the names of outstanding minor league players of 1935 to their rosters today, following baseball's annual "Jack Horner" party.

Philadelphia Athletics had priority rights in the draft session last night, as the club which wound up in the cellar in the junior circuit. So Manager Connie Mack stuck in both thumbs and pulled out a couple of minor league plums.

Mack's prizes are Harry Kelly who pitched Atlanta to 23 triumphs this season and was charged with 13 defeats, and George Puccinelli, Baltimore outfielder who led the International League in batting with an unofficial average of .359. Puccinelli slammed out 53 four-baggers, drove in 172 runs and crossed the plate with 135 runners during the season.

The other American League clubs drafted a player each from the minors. National League organizations announced no draft selections at the meeting.

The St. Louis Browns chose Catcher Angelo Guillian of St. Paul, who finished the season with an average of .276 at the plate.

Washington selected Pete Appleton, a pitcher who won 22 games and lost 9 during the past season for Montreal. Appleton is no newcomer to the big leagues. He has played with the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago White Sox, but his name appeared then in the box scores as Pete Jablonowski.

Other American League draft selections: Boston Red Sox—Manuel Salva, Sacramento, Calif., hurler who won 11 and lost 11.
Cleveland—Joseph Becker, who batted .356 for San Francisco.
Detroit—R. W. Phelps, Chattanooga pitcher. The Tigers' draft has been pitching for Davenport, Ia., this season. He won 15 games and lost 10.

DIZZY WANTS RAISE

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 2.—(P)—Dizzy Dean will demand $27,500 from the St. Louis Cardinals in his 1936 contract, he said here today.

The elder Dean said he was offered $20,000, an increase of $1500 over his 1935 contract, early this week. "But I think I'm entitled to more than that," he declared.

Arnica Much Sought For College Eleven

Two Players Get Severe Cuts And Other Bruises As Practice Gets Rough

There was a steady call for the arnica bottle, smelling salts and a sewing needle on the Illinois College field yesterday when the Blueboys went through their daily session, two players leaving the field with cuts on their heads, and another leaving with a bad hobble. The cause was a stiff scrimmage Coach Ray Nusspikler dished out in preparation for the game with Parsons here Saturday.

So rapidly were the boys leaving the field at one stage of the drill that the coach called off further scrimmage, ran the boys through their signals, and then set them up for a forward pass scrimmage.

Bill Jones, who escaped a bad injury to his head in Tuesday afternoon's work, found old lady luck hiding when he crashed into Pete Reynolds, a freshman. Both players came out of the mix-up with severe cuts that required a couple clips to close. Jones was playing an end position on the second string, and Reynolds was playing a bang-up second string tackle when they both met in hauling down one of the varsity ball carriers.

Vernon Ford was the other seriously hurt player, the varsity guard suffering a twisted leg. The full extent of the damage done by the twist was being determined last night, but it was expected that he would be able to get in the line-up Saturday.

Nusspikler decided on a scrimmage against passes when Ed Hansen, a sophomore halfback from Chicago, a plunked string into the hands of second string receivers so rapidly that the reserves marched the length of the field twice. Hansen gave a beautiful demonstration of throwing passes, zipping them accurately and completing a large majority of his tosses.

Michigan to Test Team This Saturday

Michigan State Will Show Wolverines How They are Getting Along

Chicago — (AP) — Michigan's Wolverines are pretty likely to get a definite idea of what to expect in their comeback campaign this year when Michigan State invades Ann Arbor Saturday.

The contest will be the first for Michigan. Practice has revealed little on which to rate Harry Kipke's team. Injuries to prospective regular backs, notably Bob Cooper and Clark Ritchie, have hampered development of the attack, while numerous shifts in the line indicate that Kipke hasn't found a suitable combination.

The Spartans, who started Michigan off to its sorriest season in history last year by winning their annual battle, 16 to 0, apparently have another powerful eleven, and of course, will let go with both barrels in an effort to make it two in a row. Michigan State, playing under wraps several stars out of action, opened its season last week by trouncing Grinnell College, 41 to 0.

Kipke yesterday started building a defense against the Notre Dame style of ball advancing taught by Charles Bachman, sending the Freshmen through a long demonstration. Ritchie, a Sophomore, returned to work for the first time since suffering an ankle injury two weeks ago, and may play in part of Saturday's test. Cooper, another prospective star, hurt last week, will be out for another week.

Purdue and Northwestern, which meet in the opening game of the Big Ten title season as well as in the conference's first night game, started polishing off their offenses. The Boilermakers, with Fullback John Drake playing a leading part, mauling the reserves in a scrimmage, while the Wildcats worked to master plays involving lateral passes.

At Illinois, Coach Bob Zuppke spent most of a long session in working with his punters. With Les Lindberg, a star kicker, out with an injury for at least a month, Zuppke tested Lowell Spurgeon, John Kanosky and Bill Charlie, with the former having an edge.

Freshmen used Marquette plays to cause Wisconsin's regulars trouble, especially with forward passes, while the Minnesota Varsity roped over the fourth stringers in an offensive display. The Iowa squad operated impressively against the Reserves in a brief scrimmage, gaining almost all of Chicago's first eleven put in another two hour drill on new plays, and Ohio State, its offense already in peak form, worked on a defense for the Kentucky game. The Indiana workout was given over to kickoff formations and covering punts.

SERIES STATISTICS

Cubs Blank Tigers In First Game Of World Series 3-0

came in the second when Fox took a toe-hold and belted one of Warneke's fast balls against the left-field screen. The drive came within a foot of clearing the barrier for a homer.

Things may shift with great rapidity tomorrow. One game doesn't settle the series but the Cubs now can't get worse than an even break before they move into their happy hunting ground—Wrigley Field, Chicago—for a possible three games, starting Friday.

Tomorrow the veteran Charley Root, right-hander whose come-back was a factor in the late-season surge of the Cubs, will be pitted against slim Tommy Bridges, the 160-pound Tennessee curve ball artist of the Tigers. Bridges tamed the Cardinals once last year with a brilliant exhibition. If he has control Tommy will be hard to beat but his team-mates will have to do something on their own account if Detroit is to stay in the contention.

Sales Tax Will Be Part of Argument In Coming Campaign

Republicans Expected to Campaign Against Tax; Horner Backs Plan

Springfield, Ill. — (AP) — The retail sales tax, for three years one of the most controversial issues in Illinois, has retained its virility as a subject for argument.

Much is apparently going to be heard about the sales tax in the 1936 political campaign. Governor Horner in his last two major speeches devoted considerable attention to the revenue plan he sponsored in 1933. He gave the sales tax full credit for enabling the state to meet part of the unemployment relief costs and to put the treasury on a cash basis.

Republican speakers at the same time have shown a tendency to attack the sales tax and its increase to three per cent as being unfair to the workers and jobless. Some have intimated that a return to the state property levy would be more desirable.

More of the aluminum tokens are going into circulation. Department of Finance officials this week said that thirty million of the mill-and-a-half pieces are now being used in making change on small purchases. Some trouble over the tokens is still being reported.

Although its constitutionality has been definitely established as an occupational levy, the sales tax is still the subject of litigation. Arguments were scheduled in Cook county superior court today on a suit to restrain the finance department from collecting the tax and issuing the tokens. Other suits are pending.

One of the newest developments is a demand that the state government share the sales tax revenues with the local governments, as is now done with the gasoline tax. The Lake county board has authorized a suit to restrain the state from taking over the sales tax collected from merchants there.

Some of the county officials, since pauper relief responsibilities were transferred to them from the townships, have contended that the state should furnish them with part of the funds.

Girl Scouts Follow Sea Scout Program

Learn How to Bake Clam Pie and Read a Compass

San Francisco — (AP) — If the Girl Scout next door numbers among her possible good deeds daily how to bake a clam pie, sing a sea chantey, read a compass or dance a horripole, she probably has joined the "Mariners," one of Scouting's newest branches.

Mrs. C. Vaughan Ferguson, Schenectady, N. Y., chairman of the National Maritime committee, was to tell about the year-old group later today to the 1,000 adult delegates attending the National Girl Scout Council convention just opened here.

"It was an idea to keep the girls interested after they reach 15 and begin slipping away from scouting," Mrs. Ferguson explained.

"The girls seem to love it and now we have 50 ships—groups—that is—and 727 members, in all parts of the country."

The Scouts themselves never own boats, in line with the general policy of stressing how to do things rather than own things, but through a "pilot committee" of adults they obtain the use of a boat on a stream, lake or other body of water nearby. Dues are the same as for other scouting groups, 50 cents a year.

ODDS FAVOR CUBS

Detroit, Oct. 2. — (AP) — Betting men tonight quoted the Cubs at 10 to 13 to win the world series, as a result of their first game victory. At the same time the Tigers were 7 to 10 to win the second game tomorrow, with Tommy Bridges hurling against Charley Root, the Cubs were even money for the second game.

The gambling fraternity, unusually active this year, shares the belief of baseball writers that Bridges is the toughest pitching hurdle the Cubs will face.

It was estimated tonight that close to $250,000 has been wagered professionally so far on the series, in Detroit and Chicago.

Among the Ringston visitors here yesterday was Steward Armitage.

Chicago Police to War Upon Scalpers

Internal Revenue Men Will Help Police in Checking Sale of Tickets

Chicago — (AP) — Ticket hungry Cub fans, police and the department of internal revenue joined in a big hunt for world series ticket speculators today.

Thousands of fans disappointed yesterday when the entire supply of 37,000 reserved seats—grand stand and boxes—was exhausted in less than four hours of an over-the-counter sale at Wrigley Field, were willing to pay premiums on numerous pasteboards reported to be in the hands of scalpers.

Police, however, were out to see that no scalping was done. The department of internal revenue was alert to see that the government received its share of the money in tax, should scalping be accomplished in spite of police.

With reports that a large number of tickets had been obtained by speculators through the use of "stooges," action was promised by Capt. John Prendergast, chief of uniformed police, and Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan. Their men were ordered to "throw any scalpers you find into jail."

The "stooges" were said to have received fees, running as high as $10, from speculators to stand in line and purchase tickets.

Speculators early last night offered strips of three box seats—tickets—one for each game in Chicago—which cost $10.80 at Wrigley Field at $75. Quotations on the $16.50 grandstand seats ran as high as $45. Later, however, they were not so bold, refusing to discuss the ticket situation in public.

Phil K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, said the situation could have been handled in no other way when asked why the tickets had been sold over the counter.

The sale of 13,000 bleacher seats, at $1.10 each, will open the morning of each game day.

League Admits War In Ethiopia Almost Certain; Study Plan

Hope Fighting Will Be Kept Within Borders; Hope to End It Soon

Geneva — (AP) — Military activity in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, involving some kind of armed conflict in Ethiopia, was conceded by important League of Nations circles today to be inevitable.

These sources regretfully expressed a conviction that open fighting would precede any peaceful settlement of the controversy.

Geneva optimists turned to hope that the fighting would be restricted to Italy and Ethiopia, and that League mediation would end it within a reasonably short time. A careful study of possible means to throttle an Italo-Ethiopian war quickly after hostilities begin was continued by League officials, as well as by statesmen in capitals of the two hemispheres.

The League council committee of 13 arranged to examine tomorrow the history of the crisis prepared by the League secretariat and to discuss ways and means of writing a peaceful end to that history.

Practical difficulties in the way of applying any kind of effective sanctions against the aggressor loomed larger than ever.

The idea of applying such measures to force a quick peace, however, was by no means abandoned.

League officials said the foundation of the whole sanctions problem rested on an agreement on the form of sanctions which would command world-wide support—support, or at least passive acceptance, by major non-League powers such as the United States.

An economic boycott might fit in to this specification, observers believed, but British representatives indicated a desire to have any such boycott strengthened by a naval blockade.

Begin Talking Big Trades in Baseball

Dean Brothers, Martin, and Collins Not For Sale; Look for Material

By ALAN GOULD

Detroit — (AP) — Major league magnates and managers, taking a busman's holiday for the world series, already have seized opportunities to lay the groundwork for one of the biggest shake-ups any off season has witnessed in years.

Even with a fair percentage deducted for lobby gossip and feelers that fall through, at point blank conversational range it appears today that at least a dozen of the 16 big league teams will figure in the wholesale swapping session before the call is sounded for spring training.

Most of the trade talk revolves around the Philadelphia Athletics, who finished last in the American League, and the St. Louis Cardinals, knocked out of the National League race by the sensational Chicago Cubs. Both have the tempting material. Their motives for parting with any of it, however, are vastly different.

The Cards, still a great ball club, contemplate only a few strategic shifts designed to build up another pennant winner but Branch Rickey, the David Harum of the St. Louis outfit, has an attractive list of chain-store talent for prospective bidders.

All reports to the contrary, the celebrated Dean brothers, as well as Joe Medwick, Pepper Martin and Ripper Collins, are not for sale.

Ticket Scalpers Take It On Chin

Chicago, Oct. 2. — (AP) — Scalpers of world series tickets were grumbling tonight that the scalps weren't as plentiful as they ought to be. As a result of their overestimation of what offering prices for the ducks were around $33 for the grandstand and $50 for the box seats for the three games expected to be played here.

The scalpers, who reportedly obtained large blocks of seats at the public sale yesterday by hiring "standees" to act for them, had counted on local enthusiasm for the Cubs setting the prices nearer $50 for the grand stand and $60 for the box sections.

An investigation into the seat sale by Commissioner of Police James P. Allman brought suspension of six policemen assigned to the waiting line at Wrigley Field yesterday. A number of customers complained that preferred places in the line were given certain individuals.

The commission ordered police to enforce the anti-scalping law passed last Summer by the Illinois legislature. It prohibits the selling of amusement tickets at prices higher than the amounts printed on them.

Allman's announcement of enforcement of the new statute also had a depressing effect on scalpers' prices.

Stated meeting of Jacksonville Lodge, No. 570 A.F. & A. M. tonight 7:30. Work X. Refreshments.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SCHOOL FOR DEAF NEEDED

Building Program Planned To Replace Old Structures At Institution

Daniel T. Cloud, managing officer of the Illinois School for the Deaf, spent Wednesday morning in Springfield conferring in the office of the state architect with the superintendent of state architecture, C. Herick Hammon, and the director of public welfare, A. L. Bowen, concerning the new building program for the school for the deaf which has just recently been given federal approval.

According to the work brought back by Mr. Cloud, this new project, a building program of $500,000, will include another combination dormitory and school room unit similar to the one under construction, a boys' dormitory similar to the one recently built at the Illinois School for the Deaf, a school auditorium and further rehabilitation to the power house and boiler plant.

"These improvements," said Mr. Cloud, "have long been needed and the announcement of the building program has been received with great gratification on the part of the deaf of the state of Illinois. Many of the buildings now in use are quite old and conditions have been much too crowded for the number of students in school. This new project will provide for approximately 350 students and will be situated in modern fire-proof buildings."

A stipulation in the PWA grant calls for the awarding of contracts not later than Dec. 15, 1935. In a few days representatives from the state architect office will call at the school for the purpose of selecting the new building sites.

PLAN LIBRARY AT CCC CAMP FOR USE OF YOUTHS ENROLLED

Part of the Recreation Hall at the local CCC Camp is being constructed to serve as a reading and study room. "Now," says Dr. R. O. Fitter, newly arrived educational adviser, "to fill the place with proper materials and activities."

Already one of the so-called traveling libraries has arrived, temporarily supplying the boys with a fair assortment of books for leisure reading. What is more to be desired is a permanent library for this camp, containing especially instructive volumes that aid in study. Donations by interested citizens of Jacksonville are earnestly solicited. Technical books, descriptions of industries and occupations, volumes on history and government, an encyclopaedia, new or old, would be particularly welcomed, together with books for inspiration and entertainment.

"Both for purposes of music instruction and for cheer," adds Dr. Fitter, "a gift of some old but good piano for the Recreation Hall would be tremendously fine."

It is only necessary to send a postcard or telephone call to the camp if you have a gift to bestow. It will be picked-up with great eagerness.

Supervisors Move To Refund Outstanding Bonds

Totaling $50,000

Virginia, Oct. 2.—The Cass County board of supervisors met today and appointed Karl Hageriscass county agent for the poor. A motion was also made to refund the outstanding bonds amounting to approximately $50,000. H. S. Speers & Sons of Chicago, who purchased bonds amounting to $65,000 following a vote on the bond issue in 1928, will take up the present amount.

The present action was made necessary owing to the inadequacy of the levy of four cents on the hundred authorized by the present bond issue to retire the required $3,000 yearly interest. Under the refunding act passed by the legislature in the past year, allowance was made for refunding of the bonds and levying of the necessary rate to obtain the required amount.

A representative of the Chicago bonding company will be in Virginia Wednesday, Oct. 8, when the board meets again to complete final arrangements for the refunding of the bonds.

DISCUSS DRIVERS' LICENSES AT H. S. FORUM MEETING

Drivers licenses were discussed at the first regular program meeting of the high school Forum last evening. The question for debate was—"Resolved: that drivers' licenses should be compulsory in the state of Illinois." Following the debate, Jane Dunlap gave an interesting extemporaneous speech on drivers' licenses.

During the business session, the new members were officially welcomed into the club and plans were completed for the annual fall picnic and initiation which will be held next Wednesday. At this time students will be initiated who passed the tryouts this fall along with those who were taken in last spring.

Mayor Kelly did not mention Gov. Horner's name and did not intimate that he was opposed to his re-election. He said:

"All I mean is just what I say, that I have no candidate for governor."

The president said membership of the organization has steadily increased since repeal.

Ickes Orders Speed in Beginning PWA Works

Washington, Oct. 2.—(P)—"Ruthless" treatment of delays in starting work on PWA's last batch of projects was ordered today by Secretary Ickes.

In a statement issued here during the PWA administrator's western tour with President Roosevelt, Ickes said all projects not under construction by December 15 would be cancelled and funds transferred to the others left stranded in the reduced $200,000,000 work relief allotments approved by the president.

Ickes' warning coincided with disclosure by works progress administration officials that the president up to October 1 had allotted $954,916,805 to light construction projects.

This sum, estimated by officials to provide employment for 1,250,000 persons, can be spent at the discretion of state administrators on any of $1,907,632,459 worth of simultaneously approved projects.

WPA figures showed total applications for its expected $2,000,000,000 slice of the work relief appropriation totaling $7,113,245,891.

Only $373,210,981 of the allotments, however, has been approved by Comptroller General J. R. McCarroll and made available in the states.

Besides $54,371,435 allotted to WPA for white collar and other nation-wide projects, the $954,916,805 included: Illinois $371,948,122, Indiana $328,884,461, Iowa $36,382,549, Missouri $25,132,047, Wisconsin $322,629,144.

Coupled with his warning of a collapse of the silver purchasing program, Senator Thomas announced the determination of throwing his full support behind the congressional bonus bloc as an alternative method of achieving higher commodity price levels and a measure of inflation.

He intimated a "show down" on government silver policy would come at Salt Lake City October 12, when a special Senate committee headed by Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, nominal leader of the silver group, meets to investigate treasury silver policies. Thomas is a member of this committee.

Seeing Daddy Off to the War

A tinge of sadness seems to mar the usually merry scene of a father romping with his young son as this Italian soldier, waiting to board a transport for the East African front, devotes last precious minutes to giving his boy a pickaback ride. Both the smiling lad, daddy's helmet dropping over his face, and his grave warrior-father seem affected by the parting.

Lindy's Romance Is Disclosed

New York, Oct. 2.—(P)—America's No. 1 romance—that of Anne Morrow and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh—began by chance, it is disclosed in Harold Nicholson's biography of Dwight Morrow, published tomorrow.

The two might never have met had not the late Ambassador Morrow, by mere chance, been staying at the temporary White House on Dupont Circle, in Washington, the June that Lindbergh returned from his immortal Paris flight.

In her own diary Mrs. Morrow describes the "indescribable" welcome by the throngs at the field and Lindbergh's departure to the embassy in the Morrow car.

"He had soup and a bath while the staff had a buffet lunch. We all drank to him in champagne. We left him sleeping tonight as we went to the University Club dinner for Will Rogers."

Thus, did Lindbergh meet "the family."

Fingerprinting Is Advocated

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(P)—Universal fingerprinting to curb crime in New York state was advocated tonight by Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

At the conclusion of a conference he called to map plans for combating the criminal, the governor said:

"Every loyal citizen should be willing to have his finger prints taken. I have been fingerprinted, as have the three preceding governors."

He said he was certain the 1936 legislature would approve a fingerprinting measure.

The governor's recommendation followed on similar suggestions by Chairman Edward P. Mulrooney of the state liquor authority and Bruce Smith, a member of the state law revision commission.

BETTER DAYS AHEAD FOR BUILDING TRADES

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 2.—(P)—Better days ahead for the building construction industry were foreseen today by the presidents of the American Federation of Labor Building Trades departments.

Both M. J. McDonough and J. W. Williams told their conventions here that home-building would offer many jobs to now-idle building craftsmen.

McDonough said he anticipated "rapid improvement in employment, as in all sections of the country there is a shortage of available housing."

Williams reported that home construction would provide a "big field" for reemployment.

The conventions of these departments, each claiming to be the "legal" one after a year's factional strife, are preliminary to the general A. F. of L. convention which starts next Monday.

Attorneys said they would carry their case to the supreme court. Attorney Ray E. Lane, representing Ralph W. Martens, said the issuance of tokens was unconstitutional.

The dealer, Lane said, "should be made to bear" the tax and not be "allowed to jam this Chinese money down the throat of the consumer whether the latter wants it or not."

Among the Wednesday shoppers in the city was Mrs. Elmer Dower of Murrayville.

St. Louis Society Folk Testify In Kidnaping Case

State Rests Its Case Against Nellie Hipton Muench At Mexico, Mo.

By Howard W. Fieger
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Mexico, Mo., Oct. 2.—(P)—The state called St. Louis society folk today as it rounded up the evidence it hopes will convict Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, former society matron there, of complicity in the kidnaping of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, socially prominent St. Louis physician.

The state rested its case at 3:45 (central standard time).

Mrs. W. D. Ortlwein testified red haired Mrs. Muench, 42, who six weeks ago announced the birth of what she called a "gift of God" son after 23 years of childless married life, and a man she believed to be Angelo Rosegrant watched closely the movements of Dr. Kelly at a hotel party two weeks before the abduction. Rosegrant has been convicted of the kidnaping.

Her husband, W. D. Ortlwein, said Mrs. Muench's dancing partner at the hotel was Rosegrant and related this part in the negotiation for the release of the wealthy physician.

Donald Church Bixby, a guest at the party, told of Mrs. Muench's attention to the Kelleys.

Then the victim, Dr. Kelley, described his 1931 abduction while Mrs. Muench looked on without apparent emotion. He was released without payment of demanded ransom.

Kelley said that during his captivity he heard someone come to the hide-out and ask for "Godlie." Adolph Fiedler, former St. Louis county justice of the peace and ace state witness, testified yesterday he knew Mrs. Muench as Goldie.

Baruch Declares Hitler Is Menace

Washington, Oct. 2.—(P)—Bernard M. Baruch tonight characterized Adolf Hitler as "the greatest menace to the world."

Addressing the Army Ordnance Association of Chicago, Baruch said that one year after the outbreak of the volcano that shook the world, we see humanity in arms and embattled.

"Yet, on all sides, we hear protestations of goodwill. Each nation wants peace, but wants it made in its own image."

"The Russians who preach a doctrine of the very essence of which is abhorrence of war qualify that by saying they abhor only capitalist wars. In Germany, Hitler said in his speech last May 21 that nowhere in the world had peace and pacifism found so sure a home as in Nazi Germany."

"Hitler and peace. The very terms are antithetical. He is today the greatest menace to world safety."

"Italy is preaching peace which rests upon 'security' gained by the absorption of Ethiopia. France pleads for a peace that will guarantee her against her eastern neighbor. Japan is so determined upon peace that she will obtain it if she has to annex all of China in the effort. England wants peace, but there are certain conditions that would make her forego it."

"America is set upon peace—and I would be less the American and more a cynic if I did not say my long years of study and experience have taught me that our country is perhaps freest from insincerity in her attitude."

CHEESE DAY
Monroe, Wis., Oct. 2.—(P)—Green county paid honor today to the Swiss immigrants who introduced cheese-making 70 years ago and celebrated the victory won for limburger in the famous sniffing duel of 1935.

FITZHENRY IMPROVING
Chicago, Oct. 2.—(P)—Dr. Roscoe Miller said tonight that Judge Louis Fitz Henry of the United States circuit court of appeals would probably be taken tomorrow to his home in Normal, Ill., from Passavant hospital where the jurist has been under treatment for several weeks. Although the Judge is recovering, the physician said, he will probably not be able to return to the bench immediately.

Phi Alpha Tops Societies With 1,899 Average

When the society averages for the last semester were computed at Illinois College Tuesday, it was revealed that for the first time since 1926, which is as far back as the records of such averages go, one of the men's societies emerged at the top of the list. Phi Alpha, with a ranking of 1,899, heads the list, with Sigma Pi ranking second.

Heretofore one of the women's societies, usually with a comparatively small membership, has led in the scholarship race. Chi Beta had the distinction of topping the list for the two semesters previous.

The society averages of scholarship are computed on the basis of three points for A, two points for B, and one point for C. A D does not count, and an F as in the computations for graduation requirements, subtracts one point. The individual records of each member of the society are figured into the rankings.

The complete list follows:

Society	No. of Members	Point Average
Phi Alpha	41	1,899
Sigma Pi	38	1,836
Gamma Delta	21	1,608
Chi Beta	17	1,740
Sigma Phi Epsilon	20	1,639
Gamma Nu	29	1,581
Alpha Phi Eta	42	1,534
Non-Society Men	149	1,295
Pi Phi Rho	17	1,275

Five Saline County Mines Fail to Open Because of Dispute

Seek Settlement of Wage and Hour Contract with Progressives

Harrisburg, Ill. —(P)—Five Saline county mines were idle today, pending settlement with Progressive miners employed at the mines on a band-loading wage scale.

Four of the mines are operated by the Sahara Coal company and the fifth by the Wason Coal company. Officials of the two companies pointed out, it was necessary the wage condition be settled before operation could be resumed.

The companies announced in the event the employees did not wish to continue the present band-loading agreement which governs production at the mines of the two companies, the entire agreement would be cancelled, which implies that mechanical devices would again be installed in the mines.

A notice posted at all mines stated: "The companies stand ready to grant to the men a continuation of the present local agreement adding to the existing rates the advances to be agreed to in the state-wide scale which are expected to be as follows—bandage rate increase 9 cents per ton; all day men and monthly men including top men increase 50 cent per day; yardage and deadwork increase 10 per cent."

Under the proposed new agreement the miners would receive a basic wage of $5.00 a day or 50 cents under the scale paid in other sections of the state.

The BLUE DOOR

by Rachel Mack

CHAPTER XXXI

WITH Duncan Hunter's departure, Bertha Gibbs relaxed. The fears and uneasiness she had felt for him during his concealment in the house had caused her to be almost almost deranged. For years she had both dreaded and longed for his escape. This terrifying hope had culminated on the night when he reached the blue door.

And now he had gone. Not to live a fugitive's existence but to win his freedom, to come back to this house a normal man, with work to do like other men.

From the hour of Duncan Hunter's peaceful departure that morning Bertha was never again to have had enough of loneliness. She had held the fort.

As for Elaine Chalmers, she spent a restless day. John's indifference to her, his criticism of her conduct infuriated her. She trembled when she thought of him. Standing before her mirror that day she renewed her vow to conquer him.

"That girl's the cause of it!" she thought angrily. Well, defeat could be turned into victory if you went about it properly. She'd use the little tramp as a means of reaching John McNeill. "I'll be sympathetic," she decided. "I'll join the search."

She watched for John to return home. Dusk was falling when his car turned into the driveway and she saw him get out and go into the house. Elaine quickly slipped into a coat and ran across the lawn.

He opened the door at her ring. "John," she said in a soft husky voice. "Is there any news of her?"

The girl's sympathy reached him, as a woman's sympathy will reach any man. He believed her to be as repentant and concerned as she looked. "Sit down," he urged. "I'll tell you what I know."

They sat together on the old Empire sofa and he noticed how strikingly beautiful she was. She had intended him to notice it. There was a heady, provocative perfume about her that no man could ignore—loveliness at several dollars an ounce.

Elaine said urgently, "Tell me all you know, John. I've been rather a little beast. Will you find her, do you think?"

"I believe I will," he answered eagerly. "We're on the trail. A Cleveland detective agency checked all the hotels and lodging houses—especially the cheap ones—but there wasn't a trace. Then they set to work on the theory that some one might have noticed her on the road Tuesday morning. Somebody did. There's a garage about midway to Cleveland that placed a spent coil for a man named Segwick. It happens the garage owner had to take the man's check for the work and hadn't yet cashed it. Segwick's address was on the check, too."

"Was she with him?" Elaine asked.

"We think so," John responded. "The garage people say the woman in the car was the man's wife. That was brought out when they tried to raise the money between them to pay for the job. The girl with them seemed to be a stranger they'd picked up. The description of her tallies—"

"They had time to do both. They even turned on the radio and danced. Once when the music stopped, Elaine forgot to move and remained within the circle of John McNeill's dropped arm, the fingers of her right hand still clinging to the fingers of his left."

THE telephone rang. John excused himself hastily to answer it. Elaine could not hear what he said, but she suspected that he was speaking with a detective.

"Well," she asked when he had sat down beside her again.

He said, in an elated voice, "They think they've found her! They've located the Segwicks. The Segwicks admit picking up such a girl and taking her in to Cleveland. She said she was broke and they got her a job, working as a maid for some woman who owns a beauty shop—taking care of the woman's kids. They'll know in half an hour if she's the girl."

Elaine thought, "So he's found her! Well, it's better this way. He'd have been obsessed about her if she'd gotten away. Men are like that. He must bring her back here to the Hunter house. To me. He must see us together; that's

MACHINE FOR VOTING THEME

Kiwanis Club Of Winchester Sees Demonstration: Scott News

Winchester, Oct. 2.—The Winchester Kiwanis Club was given an explanation and demonstration of the voting machine by Frank Devin of Springfield at a meeting held in the dining room of St. Mark's church yesterday evening. Mr. Devin stated that the voting machine is now in use in many of the states and larger cities of the country and estimated that one-fifth of the voting population would vote by use of a voting machine in the 1936 presidential election. He pointed out the advantages and economies of the machine over the present system and stated that a machine would probably pay for itself over a period of years. Mr. Devin's discussion and mechanism of the machine proved very interesting to the members of the club. The speaker was introduced by B. F. Walker, chairman of the program for the meeting.

Guests at the meeting of the club were: Governor John Larson, of Jacksonville; Harold Hunter, J. O. Bickelmeier, Mr. Riley, Rose Nichols, S. McKinney and Ed. Seaborn, of Grigsbyville; and Dr. Chapman, who recently took over the pastorate of the M. E. church. Plans for the charter night for the newly formed Grigsbyville club were discussed by a committee following the meeting.

In County Court Charles Ryan, who was charged with furnishing intoxicating liquor to a prisoner in the county jail, entered his plea of guilty in county court this morning before County Judge L. A. Allan. Ryan was sentenced to 30 days of labor on the county roads and fined $50.00.

The cases of Raymond Owings, Fred Taylor and Ira Taylor, who were charged with an assault and battery upon George Garrett in Merritt, September 22nd, came on for a hearing and Fred and Ira Taylor filed pleas of guilty and were each fined $25 and costs by the court. Owings elected to stand trial and was found guilty by the court and fined $25 and costs. States' Attorney C. C. Carter was assisted in the prosecution by Leavitt Arnold of Jacksonville and Milton B. Reed represented the defendant.

Building Program Planned To Replace Old Structures At Institution

Daniel T. Cloud, managing officer of the Illinois School for the Deaf, spent Wednesday morning in Springfield conferring in the office of the state architect with the superintendent of state architecture, C. Herrick Hammon, and the director of public welfare, A. L. Bowen, concerning the new building program for the school for the deaf which has just recently been given federal approval.

According to the word brought back by Mr. Cloud, this new project, a building program of $500,000, will include another combination dormitory and school room unit similar to the one under construction, a boys' dormitory similar to the one recently built at the Illinois School for the Deaf, a school auditorium and further rehabilitation to the power house and boiler plant.

"These improvements," said Mr. Cloud, "have long been needed and the announcement of the building program has been received with great gratification on the part of the deaf of the state of Illinois. Many of the buildings now in use are quite old and conditions have been much too crowded for the number of students in school. This new project will provide for approximately 350 students to be housed in modern fire-proof buildings."

A stipulation in the PWA grant calls for the awarding of contracts not later than Dec. 15, 1935. In a few days representatives from the state architect office will call at the school for the purpose of selecting the new building sites.

LOTHIAN MAKES APPEAL FOR S. A.

As Humanitarian Service Organization It Has Unique Position

As a humanitarian service organization that recognizes neither creed, race or color to the exclusion of either, the Salvation Army holds a unique position and record says Rev. Harry Lothian of this city. "As a humanitarian and charitable organization it occupies a unique position where its absolute usefulness has been claimed by our presidents and other prominent citizens, but in 80 foreign countries its humanitarian services to the homeless, hopeless and helpless is outstanding because of the unselfish way in which it is ministered. In this ministry the spiritual uplift with advice and counsel has led thousands of men, women and children to a better way of living, reducing crime, drunkenness and completely revamped otherwise twisted, perverted and wretched immoral lives."

"More than 5,000 unwed mothers and their babies are cared for annually in the Salvation Army Homes and hospitals in the United States, this being only one of the many features in their homes and hospitals, numbering about 50. Two unfortunate girls from Morgan County, this year, have received the tender care of competent medical and surgical service in these homes of refuge. More than 80 per cent of these unfortunate girls 'make good,' as a result of this kindness spiritually administered."

"Citizens of Jacksonville, when you donate your time and money as you are now, during this period of raising funds for the support of your local organization, you are helping finance one of the greatest forces for the rebuilding a broken humanity, ever known."

The campaign headquarters are located in the Chamber of Commerce rooms where all solicitors are asked to report. The appeal solicitors ask you your wholehearted support either when the solicitors call, or you may mail your subscription to the Salvation Army Campaign headquarters, Chamber of Commerce, Jacksonville, Ill., or you may bring in your cash donation or pledge, showing your civic interest.

PLAN LIBRARY AT CCC CAMP FOR USE OF YOUTHS ENROLLED

Part of the Recreation Hall at the local CCC Camp is being constructed to serve as a reading and study room. "Now," says Dr. R. O. Filler, newly arrived educational adviser, "to fill the place with proper materials and activities."

Already one of the so-called traveling libraries has arrived, temporarily supplying the boys with a fair assortment of books for leisure reading.

What is more to be desired is a permanent library for this camp, containing especially instructive volumes that aid in study. Donations by interested citizens of Jacksonville are earnestly solicited. Technical books, descriptions of industries and occupations, volumes on history and government, an encyclopedias, new or old, would be particularly welcomed, together with books for inspiration and entertainment.

"Both for purposes of music instruction and for cheer," adds Dr. Filler, "a gift of some old, but good, piano for the Recreation Hall would be tremendously fine."

It is only necessary to send a postcard or telephone call to the camp if you have a gift to bestow. It will be picked-up with great eagerness.
